

RICHESON ADMITS HE KILLED WOMAN BY USING POISON

ACCUSED MINISTER DECIDES TO ADMIT TRUTH OF CHARGES MADE AGAINST HIM.

CONFESSION TO CRIME

And Given to His Attorney After Due Deliberation According to Guilty Murderer.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Boston, Mass., Jan. 6.—The Reverend C. V. A. Richeson, former pastor of the Emmanuel Baptist church, of Cambridge, today made a written confession to the effect that he poisoned his former sweetheart Ayla Linnell. The statement was given into the hands of his counsel who made the confession public at 1:30 p. m. The confession hearing Richeson's signature reads: "I hereby confess that I am guilty of the offense of which I stand indicted."

The full text of the confession follows: Boston, Jan. 3, 1912.—John L. Lee, Esq., William A. Morse Esq., Philip L. Dunbar, Esq., Gentlemen:—Deeply penitent for my sin and earnestly desiring as far as in my power how to make atonement I hereby confess that I am guilty of the offense of which I stand indicted.

"I am moved to this course by no intention of self defense or tendency to self defense as by crime God has not wholly abandoned me, and my conscience and conscience however depraved and blighted will not admit of my still further wronging by a public trial for whose pure young life I have destroyed."

"Under the lashings of remorse I have suffered and am suffering the tortures of the damned. In this I find a measure of comfort. In my mental anguish I recognize that there is still by the mercy of the Master some remnant of the divine spark of goodness still lingering with me I could wish to live only because within some prison walls I might in some small measure redeem my sinful past by helping some other despairing soul and at last find favor with my God."

"You are instructed to deliver this to the district attorney or to the judge of the court. Signed, sincerely yours, Clarence V. T. Richeson."

Just before noon today the district attorney went into conference at the court house and about an hour later representatives of the press were called to the office of Wm. A. Morse, the leading counsel for the accused clergyman.

ROOSEVELT ESCHEWS ALL POLITICIANS

Cuts Down Trees and Works in the Cold Refusing to Discuss Politics.

Oyster Bay, Jan. 6.—Col. Roosevelt and a half dozen men chopped down trees today in the woods surrounding the ex-president's home at Sagamore Hill. When Col. Roosevelt was not wielding an axe, he was giving directions. The biting cold apparently made him a man of comparative obscurity. Oyster Bay is again achieving prominence. When his unsuccessful tour through New York state in 1910 in behalf of Henry L. Stimson ended, Col. Roosevelt went into retirement. Until a few weeks ago he was permitted to remain undisturbed at his home but as a result of recent political developments Sagamore Hill is once more in a state of siege. Despite Col. Roosevelt's refusal to talk politics, a squad of correspondents have camped in the village.

LEAVES MILLION IN TRUST FOR CHARITY

Estate of the Late Edward Rutledge Appraised at Over Three Million—Endowed Home for Aged.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Chippewa Falls, Jan. 6.—An appraisal of the estate of the late Edward Rutledge was filed in the county court here today with William Irvine and J. D. McDonnell as appraisers. They fixed the total value at $3,484,429.02 in stocks, bonds, cash and other personal property. Of this sum $1,000,000 is left in trust for charity and aside from a few small personal bequests the remainder is to be divided among Mr. Rutledge's fourteen heirs, share and share alike. Besides the above Mr. Rutledge also added prior to his death $1,000,000 for the Hannah M. Rutledge home for the aged building here. Mrs. Rutledge possessed an estate valued at $2,500,000.

SUPREME COURT TO HAVE A BUSY WEEK

Inter-State Commerce Cases to Come Up For Consideration in Washington.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, Jan. 6.—"Interstate Commerce week" will be observed in the Supreme Court of the United States beginning Monday. Practically all of the questions to be argued that week are connected with railroad or steamship traffic.

The first case to be considered involves whether shippers may be indicted for accepting rebates unless it is shown that the railroad concerned had posted the regular rates at the railroad station at point of origin. It was held by Judge Speer of Georgia, that the posting of the regular rates in the community in which the shipped lived was such an important means of information that the shipper could not be indicted, unless it was alleged the rates had been posted. This ruling occurred in the indictments of Harvey C. Miller and Morris F. Miller, of Philadelphia, on charges of accepting concessions for shipments over the Merchants and Miners' Transportation Company, jointly with the Seaboard Air Line and with the Atlantic Coast Line.

Another case is the quarter-century fight of Cincinnati shippers for lower rates to Chattanooga and the South. In 1891 shippers induced the Interstate Commerce Commission to order a sharp reduction of rates over the Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific road from Cincinnati to Chattanooga. Court held that the commission could not fix a future rate, later when this power was conferred upon it the commission reduced first class rates seventy cents, and held that while a demand for a sixty-cent rate might be reasonable on a road direct to Chattanooga, it would not be so on the Louisville and Nashville and connecting lines. Furthermore, the commission held that to reduce the rate to sixty cents might make inequitable certain rates from Memphis to Chattanooga and to Atlanta, Birmingham, Montgomery and other southern cities. The Cincinnati shippers made an unsuccessful attempt in the commerce court to have the seventy-cent rate declared unjust and unreasonable.

Whether a loophole really exists in the immigration laws such as would allow steamship companies to shift the responsibility for bringing in immigrants of the extended classes, will be argued before the court. A New York court held that when the purchase of a steamship company pay the cost of returning such immigrants are denied, entrance there was nothing in the law to prevent the companies from circumventing the law by requiring those immigrants to put up security in foreign ports to cover the cost of returning them if rejected.

Another question will be whether a special rate on coal may be given railroads. Still other cases involving conflicts of jurisdiction between the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Commerce Court will be heard.

WRIT FOR RELEASE OF DETECTIVE BURNS

Federal Judge Issues Writ of Habeas Corpus Releasing Him From Custody of County Authorities.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 6.—Federal Judge A. B. Anderson today issued a writ of habeas corpus releasing Detective William J. Burns from the custody of the county authorities. His bondsmen had surrendered him to the criminal court where he stands indicted on the charge of kidnapping J. J. McNamara.

MOVE TO STRIKE OUT EVIDENCE OF PRATT

Counsel For Defense of Packers Declares That Evidence is Incompetent Because Not Personal Knowledge.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Chicago, Jan. 6.—A climax came today in the trial of the ten Chicago packers charged with criminal violation of the Sherman law, when counsel for the defense moved to have stricken from the record the evidence of Jerome Pratt, identifying the hand writing of J. Ogden Armour, Arthur Meeker and Thomas J. Connors, on certain letters previously introduced in evidence by the government to show the existence of a combination among the defendants in the period between 1896 and 1900. Attorney M. W. Nordors representing the Morris brothers, made the point that on this point was incompetent for the reason that it was based on an opinion obtained in the ordinary course of business and not upon personal knowledge.

CANADIAN AUTHORITIES FEAR SPREADING OF SMALLPOX

Write Secretary of State Board of Health Inquiring As to Severity of the Superior Epidemic.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Madison, Jan. 6.—Alarmed at the proximity of the smallpox epidemics existing at Superior, Wis., Dr. Montzambert, registrar general for the province of Ontario, has wired Dr. C. A. Harper, secretary of the state board of health, asking for information as to the seriousness of the outbreak. The Canadian authorities fear the disease will spread to Dominion towns. Dr. Harper replied that the situation is well in hand.

COLD CONTINUES TO COVER THE COUNTRY

CHICAGO APPEARS TO BE THE WORST HIT OF ANY OF THE DISTRICTS REPORTING.

SUFFERING REPORTED

Thermometers Range Way Below Zero Throughout Wisconsin—No Relief in Sight Report Weather Bureau.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Chicago, Jan. 6.—Zero weather continued today to hold Chicago in its grasp and no relief for the present is promised. The word given out from the government office was that the mercury which stood at eight degrees below zero at six o'clock this morning might drop to fifteen below before midnight.

Intense Suffering. Suffering was intense. Four deaths were attributed directly to the weather. Scores of families were routed from their homes by snow. Yesterday morning responded to one hundred and sixty seven alarms and the cold continued to sound with regularity during last night.

Many Unemployed. According to the estimate of Chas. H. Wacker, head of the United Charities there are in Chicago a hundred and fifty thousand unemployed men. Of this number about eight hundred spent last night in the municipal lodging houses. Two hundred more found shelter in the police stations, while the forty-three other police stations housed many men who said they had nowhere to sleep.

Double Allotments. The president of the county board gave orders to the county agent to double today the usual allotments of fuel and food for the needy.

In Wisconsin. Milwaukee, Jan. 6.—Wisconsin is still in the grip of a cold wave. The minimum temperature so far as now being 30 degrees below zero at Eau Claire. Green Bay reports 26 below and the cipher and Madison 22. The official record in Milwaukee is minus 15.

No Let Up. The government forecast official gives no encouragement for a let up. As the result of the frigid temperature, railroad trains are several hours behind time.

Much Suffering. Considerable suffering is reported among the poor in Milwaukee and associated charities and the county board department are kept busy filling requests of calls for relief.

Lower Today. Another decided drop of temperature marked the sixth day of the cold wave through the middle west today. From many cities came reports of broken records. Superior, Wis., having the unusual mark of thirty-eight degrees below zero, the lowest point touched in the United States, with Duluth being just half a point behind with a temperature of thirty-seven and one-half degrees below.

Much Snow. A general snowfall through Illinois, Iowa, Michigan and Missouri added to the misery. The official forecast at the government bureau here was that snow would continue to fall to night and Sunday and the temperature would drop several degrees.

No Relief. No prediction as to when the mercury would again start on its upward journey was made by local forecasters. The general temperature range in the Canadian northwest today is from fourteen to thirty-eight degrees below zero.

Way Down. The range in the northwestern part of the United States is from eighteen to thirty-two degrees below zero. Locally the records for years were broken today.

Aged Man Walks to Sheboygan in Six Hours And Was Nearly Frozen to Death.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Sheboygan, Jan. 6.—John Ammel, of Manitowish, aged 58 years walked from Manitowish to Sheboygan a distance of 32 miles along the lake shore road in six hours thereby winning a bet from a Manitowish friend. Ammel has made similar trips and claims the title of the "toughest" man in Wisconsin. The thermometer hovered around 15 degrees below zero and even colder during the trip and when he arrived in this city his ears and nose were frozen. He was revived here.

In Touch With Opportunities

Why is it that so few people are eminently successful while the great majority are always in the rut? One authority has said that the cause of it is that the successful few study more carefully the conditions of success—they leave no stone unturned to accomplish their aim.

The majority of people find it too much trouble to try for the head of the procession. There's one way to keep in touch with opportunity, to study carefully the conditions of success—make it a point each day to know what opportunities are outlined in the Want Columns of The Gazette.

There's many a chance for painful transformations, chances for advancement in many ways if full use is made of the Wants. Want Ads. 1c per word when charged.

MAKES ADMISSIONS IN HIS ANSWER TO SERIOUS CHARGES

Indianapolis Labor Leader Tells of Meeting With Agents of Outside Labor Unions.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 6.—Spurgeon H. Meadows, prominent labor leader and business agent of the district council of the International Brotherhood of Carpenters and Iron Workers today came forward with the declaration that out of town men caused the four dynamite explosions in this city at midnight of October 24, 1909.

Follows Statement. This followed the statement of Chas. A. Bookwalter, former mayor, that local labor leaders were informed by him two years ago as to whom had directed the explosions against the property of Albert Von Speckelkorn, an "open shop" contractor.

As to Report. Meadows' assertion was made in connection with a report that the federal authorities were investigating whether or not the other unions were interested in the iron workers, in having the Von Speckelkorn property destroyed. Conference of men alleged to have accomplished the explosion, were housed in a hotel owned by John Halfman, who said today he had testified before the grand jury last year that Meadows attended some of these conferences.

Admits Meeting. This Meadows denied but he admitted meeting at Halfman's place delegates for unions that were endeavoring to persuade non-union men to quit work on one of Von Speckelkorn's contracts nearby.

Halfman's Story. "Three weeks" before the Von Speckelkorn explosion," said Halfman, "two men who said they were from Chicago, and whose names I don't remember, rented a room from me. They were backed by the business agents of a certain union."

Were in Business. "He told me that Chicago men were in the business lighting 'scab workmen,' and 'fixing' non-union jobs. He said they were here to 'fix' the legal situation."

Knew Meadows. "Many of the men who came to see these strangers are recognized as connected with labor unions but the only one I know by name was Meadows. The two Chicago men left here three days before the explosion and I have not seen them since."

Seen Elsewhere. The business agent referred to by Halfman was also charged with direct knowledge of the explosion in a former statement to Bookwalter by Mrs. Alva Hawkins, keeper of a boarding house.

Reported to Mayor. She reported to the mayor when he made the municipal investigation that the business agent came to her home with other men in an automobile a few hours before the explosion took place and said to her: "Keep your ears open about midnight and you'll hear the damndest noise you ever heard."

Talked Too Much. Mrs. Hawkins returned here recently from Los Angeles where she went in response to a subpoena from the grand jury which indicted the two McNamara. "That business agent always talked too much," said Meadows.

PROMINENT AMERICAN WAS SHOT IN BERLIN

Norbert M. Rodkinson Seriously Wounded by Deserted Woman in German Capital.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Berlin, Jan. 6.—Norbert M. Rodkinson, a prominent member of the American colony here was shot probably with fatal effect last evening by a milliner named Alwynne Stiele.

Tries Suicide. The woman was intercepted as she was escaping from Mr. Rodkinson's office and immediately fired a bullet into her own body which is not, however, likely to prove fatal.

Woman's Story. The affair, according to the allegations of Miss Stiele's friends, was brought about by the interruption of long standing relations between her and Mr. Rodkinson and his refusal to support her two children.

Wife's Views. Mrs. Rodkinson, however, asserts that it was an attempt of extortion on the part of Miss Stiele who had been a servant of the family years ago in Russia.

Very Prominent. Mr. Rodkinson is a director of the American chamber of commerce here and has represented American firms for many years in Germany and Russia.

Exciting Experiences. He had some exciting experiences during the Russo-Japanese war when he was concerned in attempts to sell South American warships to Russia. He is a native of New Orleans.

Known in New York. New York, Jan. 6.—Norbert M. Rodkinson is well known in New York and has worked on newspapers here and elsewhere. He is about 45 years old and distantly related to the late Gen. Beauregard of Confederate army fame.

OIL INSPECTOR HAS FAVORABLE REPORT

700,000 Barrels of Oil Inspected. In State, 63 of Which Were Rejected—Decrease in Fraud.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., Jan. 6.—The annual report of the state supervisor of inspectors of illuminating oils, Louis F. Meyers, submitted to Governor McGovern, declares the department to be more effective today than at any time since its establishment. "Now interest has been awakened in the department," it says, "which cannot but result in a great decrease in the number of accidents caused by petroleum products and in the total elimination of fraud in the sale of kerosene."

The report shows that 104 barrels of oil and 351,779 barrels of kerosene were inspected, 370,753.09 was paid into the oil inspection fund, $39,925.30 was paid in salaries to deputy oil inspectors, and $2,597.32 was paid for department expenses. The total receipts for year ending Sept. 30, 1911 ($370,753.09) exceeded the total disbursements ($37,389.18) for the same year by $23,363.91. The total fees received for the year ending June 30, 1911, were $67,620.23 and the disbursements for that period were $46,493.56. The balance, exceeding that of previous years by more than $5,000, reverted to the general fund.

Mr. Meyers reported he found several provisions of the oil inspection law were practically nullified because of lax enforcement and that this condition has been remedied. In doing so, he added, it became necessary to discharge several of the more inefficient deputies. Several amendments to the oil inspection law were passed by the last legislature, the most important being that requiring the testing and certification of the gravity of kerosene. The department is endeavoring to cut down the number of explosions from stove polls and other articles containing dangerous ingredients. Proper labels are required. Robert L. Southey of Burlington, has been appointed deputy to succeed Deputy Graham of Burlington, deceased. Deputy R. P. Smith of Oconto Falls, who resigned is succeeded by T. E. Mills of the same place.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 6.—George Bauer, aged 50, was seriously hurt early today in an automobile smash-up which resulted in the arrest of Tom Jones, manager of Ad. Wolgast, on a charge of reckless driving. A companion of Jones', who escaped in the darkness, was reported to have been Wolgast, but this was denied.

RALPH JACKMAN ASKS COMPANY BE OUSTED

Former Resident Wants Secretary of State Fear to Forfeit Western Union Charter.

According to Madison dispatches today, Ralph W. Jackman, son of Mrs. and Mrs. C. W. Jackman of this city and a prominent attorney at Madison, has started what may be one of the most important actions in years by demanding the Secretary of State James Fear that the charter of the Western Union telegraph company be forfeited. Secretary Fear has asked attorney General Bancroft for an opinion on the matter.

A statute provides that all corporations licensed to do business in Wisconsin shall lose their charters when they remove from the state courts to the federal courts causes of action arising in the state.

Jackman alleges that the company has removed to the federal court several suits started against it by Wisconsin parties.

CHINESE REPUBLIC AN ASSURED FACT

NEW CABINET HAS BEEN NAMED AND PROVE TO BE ABLE MEN.

MAKES PUBLIC TERMS

Concessions Made to the Manchus. Show the Revolutionists Intend to be Most Liberal.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Chonghai, Jan. 6.—The republican government is assuming a very strong position and now considers that the future of China is entirely in its hands. The leaders believe the country is almost unanimously in favor of the republican movement and the regular trained army will come over to their side almost to a man.

The cabinet formed by Dr. Sun Yat Sen announced the terms it will offer to the Manchus on their submission. These are much more generous than at first believed would be the case. They include the free grant of the forbidden city and the summer palace in Peking which are worth hundreds of millions of dollars.

In addition they will accord life pensions and other concessions together with equality in citizenship and in the holding of offices under the state. "The good faith of the republicans is shown by the fact that the Manchus in the southern provinces are now being supported fed and clothed by the revolutionaries and none of them is severely punished by the republican government."

The cabinet nominated by President Sun is regarded generally as a strong one. Most of the personages named accepted the portfolios offered them but Wang Chung Wei declined that of foreign affairs.

This however, is regarded here as a form of concession on his part seniority of Dr. Sun Ting Pang who in his term best Wang Chung Wei to accept the post offered him.

HAS BEEN KHEDIVE FOR TWENTY YEARS

Abbas Helmy Celebrates Anniversary Tomorrow. His Reign Marked By Many Important Events.

Cairo, Egypt, Jan. 6.—It will be twenty years tomorrow since Abbas Helmy II, succeeded his father on the throne of Egypt, in a time of which fact, by the way, it is difficult to understand why most people still persist in speaking of him as the "young" Khedive. Although possessed of little of the power usually associated with rulership, being theoretically the vassal of the Sultan, and in reality vassal of England, Khedive Abbas possesses ability of high sort and deserves much credit for his successful efforts to arouse dormant Egypt from lethargy that has enshrouded her for centuries. The Khedive is a busy man, and is constantly planning new projects for his country's good. Under his inception the country has made remarkable progress during the years. Railways have been built, fresh canals have been made, and, of still greater importance, great irrigation projects have been completed for the reclamation of vast areas of waste land. The cities as well as the rural districts have progressed, Cairo, Alexandria and other large centers are full of proof that Egypt is ceasing to be asleep, for modern buildings and improvements in the European style are to be seen on all sides.

DEFENSE FUND WILL BE LEADER'S TOPIC

Executive Council of Federation of Labor to Consider Its Disposition at Meeting.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6.—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor, composed of President Gompers, the eight vice presidents and the secretary and treasurer, will meet at the headquarters of the organization in this city on Monday for a most important session. The McNamara case, with particular reference to the disposition of what remains to the defense fund, will be the chief subject of consideration. Just how much remains of the fund is problematical, but it is said on good authority the unexpended balance of the $100,000 subscribed is comparatively small. It is believed arrangements will be made to distribute the balance among the subscribers.

Sir Sandford Fleming 85.

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 6.—Sir Sandford Fleming, the eminent railroad builder and capitalist, will celebrate his 85th birthday anniversary tomorrow. SOME REASONS GIVEN FOR DECIDED CHANGE

OBJECTIONS BEING RAISED TO COMMISSION FORM OF GOVERNMENT ARE GROUND-LESS.

PROVED SUCCESSFUL

Old Time Politician Writes on Bench That Janesville Can Obtain By Adopting It.

To the Editor:

It may be out of place to write on the commission form of government after having so earnestly fought all the various changes that have come on our political map in the past few years of reform but I really believe that if the citizens generally understood the law and its enactments there would be no doubt of its passage on the 23rd of this month.

In the first place Janesville is existing under the old style of city government, a Mayor, City Treasurer, City Clerk and City Attorney elected by the people on alternate years and ten aldermen, five elected each year for a term of two years. All this is done under the grants of a special charter. This charter was granted the city by a special act of the legislature and has been amended at various times later legislative enactments until it is practically worthless.

The ten aldermen are the real governing body of the city. The Mayor is a mere figure head, the city clerk and city treasurer and city attorney merely in the position of salaried clerks. The four elective officers are who might be termed figureheads. The Mayor can only advise as can the City Treasurer and the City Attorney their wishes or advise as they see fit. The Mayor presides at the sessions of the council but has no vote except on a tie and that is even limited by legal restrictions.

The Mayor can not enforce a single order to any of his subordinates, the Chief of Police, the Chief of the Fire Department or the street superintendent. If the council see fit to object and have strength enough to follow out their action by a majority of votes, it is the council who are the real rulers. This was demonstrated in the recent form of Mayor Carle and of the present Mayor Nichols.

Ten men whose interests are manifold as their numbers, who are engaged in private business, whose interests often conflict with their administrative duties, govern Janesville. These ten men may have as many views on the same subject as many as members present. By skillful manipulation of votes, exchanging votes for votes, many measures can be passed with satisfaction on one section of the city and work a hardship on another. It is not economical, it is not just.

In the old days we nominated our aldermen candidates by caucus ballot. We were told this was not the proper method and by a vote of the state at large it was decided to adopt the primary law. I have such strong feelings against this noxious law that I will refrain from expressing my views at this time but between the two I think we got the best results by the caucus system as the majority of citizens will agree.

Now take up the commission law. What does it do for the voters, what powers it gives the officers elected and how the city is governed. The law was amended at the last session of the legislature to meet the requirements found lacking in the original law passed several years previously. In Appleton, Eau Claire and other cities where it is in force it has proven a thorough, economical and excellent form of government. Just at this time, with taxes on the rise we must look to economical questions without crippling the city itself.

After the question is decided as to whether Janesville will adopt the law or not then comes the election. In April at the regular time I am now writing directly from a previous article on this interesting subject in case it has been fully read and digested by the voters as a whole. If after reading the following, any voter can honestly say that the proposed change will not benefit the city and place the governing power in the hands of the capable of handling it, why something is wrong.

There will be an election the first Tuesday in April next, at which there will be a council elected consisting of a mayor and two other members. The nomination and election of these shall be by voters of the city at large. Each member of the commission must be an elector of the state of Wisconsin but he need not necessarily be a resident of Janesville.

No person who holds a license for the sale of intoxicating liquors shall be eligible to any such office. The term of the mayor shall be six years. The terms of the other members of the council shall be two and four years respectively. The term shall begin on the third Tuesday of April next succeeding the election.

The board of education and the board of police and fire commissioners shall continue to be elected or appointed as provided by law, and shall continue to have the same authority as they now possess.

On the first Tuesday in May following the reorganization, and annually thereafter, the council shall select from among their number some one to act as a member of each of such boards and commissions. Such member so elected shall have all the power and authority vested by law in any other member of such board or commission, so long as he shall remain in office, or until the council selects his successor.

Any member of such board or commission may be removed at any time by a majority vote of the council. A statement of the reasons for such removal shall be made and filed with the city clerk.

If, after the city shall have operated for six or more years under the provisions of the city commission act, its electors desire to return to the old form of government, they may, upon a petition, hold an election to determine whether or not such city shall return to and operate under the charter and laws under which it operated prior to the adoption of the commission plan.

Council may create any general department of city affairs.

At its first meeting, or as soon thereafter as possible, the council shall select, by majority vote, a city clerk, a corporation counsel, a controller, a treasurer, a superintendent of streets, an assessor, and such other officers and assistants as are necessary to the efficient conduct of the affairs of the city, and shall fix the terms of service and salaries of all such officers, and any of these may be removed by vote of the majority of the members of the council.

The annual salary of the mayor shall be $2,500, and of each of the councilmen, $2,000.

The mayor or other councilman may be removed at any time, in the following manner: A petition shall be filed with the city clerk, demanding the election of a successor to the person sought to be removed, a general statement of the grounds upon which the removal is sought, to be stated. This petition shall be signed by electors entitled to vote, equal in number to at least one-fourth of the entire vote cast in such city for all candidates for governor at the last preceding general election. When the city clerk shall certify that the sufficient number of names are affixed to any such petition, the council shall order and fix a date for holding an election not less than forty nor more than fifty days from the date of the clerk's certificate to the council. The name of the person sought to be removed shall be placed upon the official ballot without nomination.

At the election following, if the incumbent receives the highest number of votes, he shall continue in office.

If no other than the incumbent receives the highest number of votes at such election, the incumbent shall thereupon be deemed removed from the office.

OBITUARY

Helen Garry.

Helen, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Garry, was tenderly laid away in Mt. Olivet cemetery this morning, following the celebration of high mass at St. Patrick's church by the Rev. Father Reilly, at nine o'clock. Four little boys were her pall bearers. They were Joseph Boylan, Dan Reilly, Ed. and Will Sheridan. Many sympathizing friends as well as relatives of the bereaved parents attended the funeral services.

Among those from out of the city who attended the funeral were P. H. Garry and Catherine and Erna Garry of Beloit, Frank Barry of Bridgeport, South Dakota; Mr. and Mrs. Peter Garry of Evansville; and Mrs. D. Quigley of Rockford.

Two Kinds of Socialists.

The Rev. Archibald D. Pinkerton, the well-known Christian Socialist of Duluth, said in a recent address: "I asked a crusty old millionaire the other day to contribute to our book fund. He frowned and said: 'So you're a Socialist, eh?' 'Yes, sir,' said I, 'Well, tell me what a Socialist is,' said he. 'But you must tell me first,' said I, 'what sort of a Socialist you mean—a political Socialist or a Christian Socialist.' For there is a vast difference. The political socialist says: 'What's yours is mine.' But the Christian Socialist says: 'What's mine is yours.'"

Boy of Eight is a Hunter.

The Sheerin family of Brookside, N. J., enjoyed a raccoon dinner recently as the result of a gunning expedition by James Albert Sheerin, aged eight. The little fellow, seeing his father and big brothers return from hunting trips with game; took into his head to go on a hunt of his own. He used his father's revolver from a bureau drawer. Going into the woods, he emptied a gray squirrel's nest in a tree. James Albert took careful aim and fired. What was his amazement to have a raccoon that had been occupying the lofty nook, come tumbling down to his feet. It weighed twenty-five pounds.

What They Go By.

G. G. Netter, the secretary of the International Pure Food Association of the White Cross, was discussing in New York a campaign he has recently commenced against the French menu. "Where is the Parolan, let alone the American," Mr. Netter exclaimed, "who would know the meaning of 'dindonneau a la Wall street' or 'Pommes Taft' or 'Dandel' a la Sugar Trust'?" These names puzzle everybody. That is frankly and universally admitted. I said the other day to waiter: "Walter, these dishes are all in French." "Yes, sir," he answered, "but the prices are in English. Most people go by them."—Washington Star.

Lose Health and You Lose All Nature Will Make You Well if You Assist It

Health! What a heritage of riches, of untold possibilities that word contains. How careless are those who possess it! Its priceless worth and how those who have once lost it will offer everything of worldly possessions to regain it.

Interference with the free transmission of nerve impulse over the pathway of the nervous system will result in disease. Here then, says the Chiropractor, lies the secret of disease. Through a sudden fall, twist, wrench or contracted muscles the vertebrae are thrown out of position. This is called a subluxation. The Chiropractor can demonstrate a subluxation of a vertebra in the instance of any disease and by a quick and peculiar adjustment removes the pressure and Nature will restore health to the organ or part. An adjustment of the Spinal Column, allowing freedom of nerves, will prolong life and turn the agonies of disease into the joys of robust health.

Harley - Davidson

"The Silent Gray Fellow"

THE SEAT springs on the ordinary motorcycle have about one-half inch action either way. This means when the rider strikes a stone or crossing, say 3 inches high, that the ordinary motorcycle saddle springs absorb only the first half-inch of the jolt and the rider's backbone gets the rest. These jolts, and in fact all vibrations, are entirely eliminated in the new Harley-Davidson by the incorporation of a FUL-FLOTEING Seat, the greatest comfort device ever built. The saddle springs, the only shock absorbers of the ordinary motorcycle, are retained, and these, combined with our FUL-FLOTEING Seat, give a range of action of about 4 inches as against the scant 1 inch of the ordinary motorcycle.

THIS MEANS that the new Harley-Davidson is four times as comfortable as the ordinary motorcycle. For four years the Harley-Davidson has held the world's official record for economy. The Harley-Davidson is not a racing machine, but is built primarily for comfort and service. In addition to the FUL-FLOTEING Seat the new Harley-Davidson incorporates the FREE-WHEEL control, the latest and greatest invention of Mr. Wm. S. Harley, the world's foremost motorcycle designer and engineer. This ingenious device has done away with the hard pedaling or the necessity of running along side the machine, and permits the Harley-Davidson to be started like an automobile. Send for Catalogue.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAM
DEFEATS Y. M. C. A.

J. H. S. Wins One Sided Game by 42 to 10. Business Men to Play Senior Second Monday.

In a fast, though lopsided game, at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium last night, the high school team ran away from the Association five, scoring forty-two points to their ten. A good sized audience of representatives of both institutions was present and encouraged their teams with cheers and encouragement. Considerable rivalry between the teams resulted in very rough playing on the part of both and though few fouls were called, the game was far from clean. The Y. M. C. A. boys were outclassed from the very first, both in size and team work, although they put up a hard fight to the very end. They were unable to get away from the J. H. S. guards, however, and could not get in the team work which they have been using to such good advantage on former teams.

Starting out with a rush, the high school lads seemed to have things mostly their way throughout the game, but their baskets were only made at intervals and they did not pile up the score in any period when the "Y" boys were laying down. Brown and Mott played fine games and did much to prevent their opponents from scoring. For the high school Hamlin and Cunningham started at the scoring end of the game while Elder did some good work as guard. Korst got a number of free throws and one field basket, and got in with some excellent floor work.

Last night's score and lineup was as follows:

J. H. S. Y. M. C. A.
Cunningham R. F. Wilson
Korst L. F. Koch
Hamlin, C. C. Koch

Factor R. G. Mott, Kopp Elder L. G. Brown
Hamlin, C. C. Koch
Cunningham, G. G. Koch
Korst, J. J. Wilson
Mott, L. L. Mott

Referee:—L. Mathews.

Monday night another game will be played at the Y. M. C. A. between two of the Association teams, the Business Men and the Senior Second, which promises to be a fast and hard game throughout. Neither team has played a game as yet, but they have been both been practicing some in the gym and each class is equally certain of winning. Both teams have some very good men in them and there will be a hard fight for the winner. The teams line up as follows:

BUSINESS MEN SENIORS
Welch L. H. Dunwiddie
Dehnen, Wilcox, L. F. Davis
Lavelley L. G. Schuler
Tobias R. G. Ryder
Griswold, L. G. Chas
Referee:—L. Mathews.

The game will be called at eight-thirty Monday night at the "Y" auditorium, where a good-sized crowd is expected to witness the game.

Lakotas Play Chicago Team.

Basketball fans will be given a treat tonight at the rink when the Lakota Cardinals play the Turin Cardinals. The Cardinals are recognized by many as the best team in Chicago. If it is true that these players are better than the Ravenswood team, the Cardinals are in for another hard game and perhaps a losing game but they will put up a hard fight which will at least hold the Chicago lunch down and if possible trim them well. Each of these teams won a game last year and both are endeavoring to get two games. The game will begin at the usual time.

NATIONAL AUTO SHOW
OPENS AT NEW YORK

Begins This Evening and Will Continue Ten Days. Months Have Been Spent on Preparations.

New York, Jan. 5.—During the evening ten days all "automobilemen" will turn their eyes and steps toward this city. Beginning tonight and continuing through the coming week the Twelfth National Automobile Show is to hold forth in Madison Square Garden. Simultaneously the annual exhibition of the National Association of Automobile Manufacturers is to be held in the new Grand Central Palace. Months, in fact almost a year, have been spent in perfecting plans and making ready for the two shows. The Madison Square Garden show is confined to pleasure cars, while both pleasure and commercial vehicles are to be displayed during the week at the Grand Central Palace. The promoters of both enterprises predict that new records for attendance and general success will be established.

Baseball Notes.

Allentown, Pa., will be represented either in the New York State or the Tri-State league next season.

If "Minor" Brown carries out his threat to retire from the game the Cubs' pitching staff will be pretty much to the bad.

No chance for Mike Donlin to get away from the Boston Nationals. President Ward believes that Mike will come back strong next season.

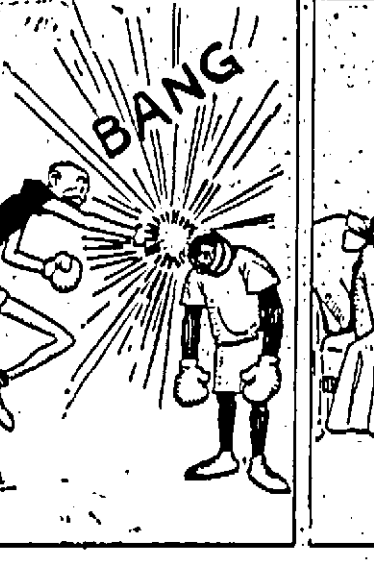

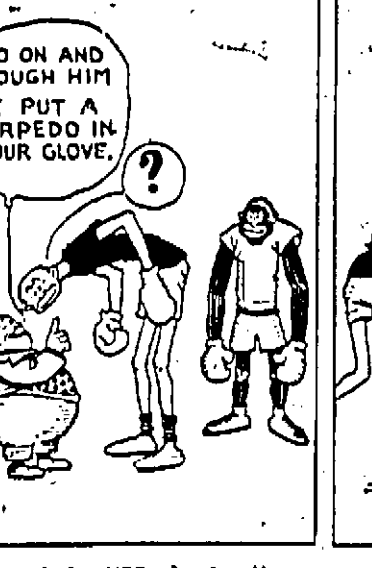

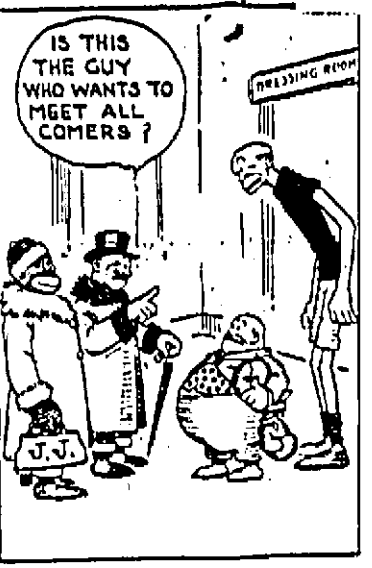

Manager Arndt, of the South Bend Central league team, has signed Thomas Roman and Domingo Solis, two Cuban ball players.

Leffeld, Campbell and Byrne, of the Pittsburgh Pirates, are members of Ed Konotchy's indoor baseball team in St. Louis.

Playing with Denver last season "Buck" O'Brien, now with the Boston Americans, had the Western league pitchers with 24 games won and seven lost.

Harry Steinfeldt has had several attractive offers from minor league clubs, but the former Cub wishes to remain a free agent and has turned down the offers.

THE THEATERS

THE FIRST VIOLIN.

The Myers Theatre is fortunate in having among its bookings as a coming attraction, Mr. Fred S. Jones and a clever company, in "The First Violin," a dramatic drama in four acts.

The play is the famous adaptation from Joseph Pothey's delightful story, and was originally produced by the late Richard Mansfield, at the Garden Theatre, New York City, and had a run of 200 nights.

The play is now presented to the other cities for the first time with Mr. Jones in the title role formerly played by Mr. Mansfield.

"The First Violin" relates a sweet story of domestic life in Germany, and wherever Mr. Jones and his company have appeared, they have been highly endorsed.

This attraction will be at the Myers Theatre Saturday, Jan. 6, matinee and evening.

DEAR OLD BILLY.

At the Myers Theatre on Friday January 12, A. G. Delamater will present William Hawtrey and his company of distinguished London players in the laughable three act farce "Dear Old Billy," by W. H. Maque.

Direct from his hundred nights' run in Chicago where the critics were united in designating it as one of the best farces seen in that city in many years.

Miss Amy Leslie, critic of the Chicago Daily News, writes of the piece: "It's cleanliness, speed, old-fashioned manner and now-forgotten incidents make 'Dear Old Billy' decidedly a novelty."

The central character—impersonated by Mr. Hawtrey, is a likable, easy-going old gentleman, careless and absent-minded, whose consideration for the feelings of others seems to get him into no end of scrapes, every one of which is witnessed by his wife who has nursed him for twenty years, and from whom, in desperation, he secures a legal separation, which is faulty in the fact that, while it prevents her speaking to, or interfering with him, it does not prevent her being wherever he is.

David Belasco will have a theatre in Chicago next season.

Emma James denies the story that she is to give up grand opera.

John E. Kellard is appearing in New Zealand in Shakespearean repertoire. William Faversham will make a trip through the South, playing in "The Faun."

Fred Tilden, late of "The Neighbor's Wife," has joined Henrietta Crossman's company.

Charles Morris has recovered from his recent illness and has resumed his literary work.

William Butler Yeats, the dramatist, is writing a poetical play for Mrs. Patrick Campbell.

Since May Irwin became an actress-manager she has purchased a new production of a piece entitled "Somewhere Else."

Emily Lorraine and Melville Ross now are in the support of Helen Lowell in "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary."

Henry Arthur Jones is to make another trip to this country with the manuscript of a play for Margaret Anglin.

Charles Frohman has the American and Canadian rights of Robert Hitchcock's novel, "Beth Donna," in its dramatic form.

When Adeline Genes, who has decided to return to the stage, comes to this country, she will be seen in "The Enchantress."

The oldest actor in the world is said to be Enrico Pinnelli, who recently celebrated his 110th birthday near Palermo.

Stanley Ford has been engaged by A. H. Woods for one of the leading roles in "Modest Suzanne," in which Sallie Fisher is starring.

Hugh Dillman has replaced Robert

Delamater in the cast of "The Case of Deceit," which David Belasco has produced for Frances Starr.

James T. Powers is soon to have a new musical piece. The music will be by Gustave Kerker and the book, as usual, largely by Mr. Powers himself.

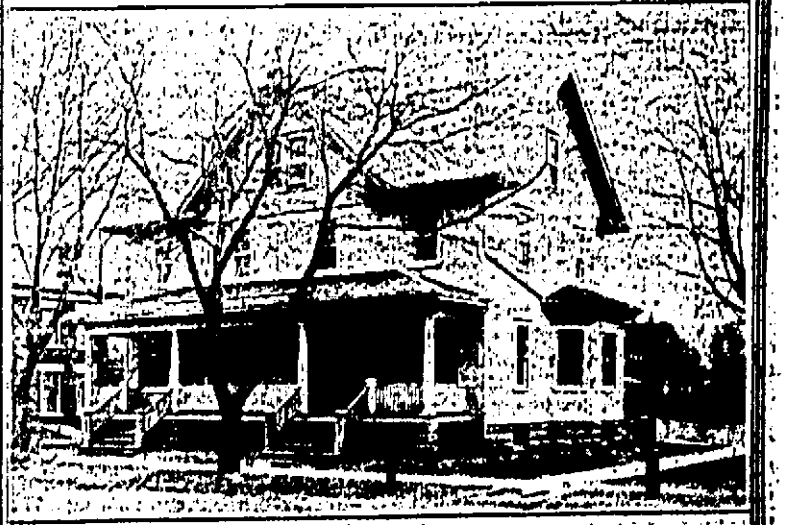

Edward Sheldon is to have a new play produced this season under the direction of the Shuberts which bears the thrilling title of "The Murder."

John Gort has signed contracts with Pixley and Lueders for the rights to their new opera, "The Gypsy," which he will produce early next season.

Next season Charles Frohman will have comedies by Alfred Sutro, Arthur Pinero, W. Somerset Maugham, Augustus Thomas and Hubert Henry Davies.

Recently Nellie McCoy, the dance princess in "The Enchantress," made a tour of the famous dance-halls of the lower East Side of New York for new steps. Among dances she discovered were the Gotham Gobble and the Humback Rag.

Immediate Deliveries Now

Good News for Those Who Have Been Waiting for This $900 Car

In spite of the fact that for some time the Overland Company have been shipping better than eighty cars a day, we have had to disappoint many people by not being able to guarantee immediate delivery on this car. Sixteen hundred dealers are clamoring for it, and the factory cannot begin to meet the demand. But the opening of additional factories, thereby greatly increasing the output, has made it possible for the makers to ship a few cities a larger allotment than anticipated and this car is now offered for immediate delivery. Any car ordered within the next few days can be delivered immediately.

Compare this $900 thirty horse-power, five-passenger car with any $1250 car on the market, and you'll find but little difference. It has a thirty horse-power motor. Seats five people comfortably. It is big and roomy. It has a staunch pressed steel frame. Selective transmission, three speeds and reverse, fitted with F & S annular bearings—the best made. It is the only popular-priced car using pure aluminum for crank and gear casings. Others use cast iron. It is equipped with the best carburetor in the world—Model L. Schebler. It is the only popular-priced car with a real center control. It has strength, power and speed—more than you will ever care to use. The body design and finish is simple, graceful and beautiful. Upholstery is of good leather, hand-stuffed with fine hair. In every respect it is a thoroughly high-grade automobile.

See this car at once. Get the facts. Be convinced of its real value. You can have a thorough demonstration at the address below, and we advise you to act with haste.

BUSINESS OFFICE OPEN SATURDAY EVENING.

WEATHER FORECAST.

Generally fair and continued cold Sunday, light to moderate winds mostly northwest.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT.

A communication, signed "Vagabond," recently published in The Gazette, contained some wholesome suggestions on the entertainment of young people, which merit more than passing thought. They recommended play grounds and skating parks, and various other innocent amusements to promote health, and especially to preserve the morals of the boys and girls.

The fact is not always recognized, and yet it is true, that the safeguarding of young people, and tiding them over the restless age between childhood and maturity, is the most important work committed to our care, and the most neglected.

The boy and girl, at this uncertain age, are as sensitive as an intelligent Collier, and about as difficult to manage. Many fathers and mothers are put to their wits' ends to know what to do next to keep their young people from drifting out of the home and beyond their control.

The home may be ever so inviting and the attachment for it ever so strong, yet fail to fill the natural longing for the associations of genial companionship, and these associations are as necessary to development as the air and sunshine.

Sympathy is often expressed for the only child in a home. If a boy he is handicapped by losing out of his boyhood life the contact so necessary to well-rounded character. The love which should be distributed centers on him and the abnormal surroundings inspire the belief that he is exceptional in every way, and so far above the average that the little world about him will do him homage.

Of course when he comes home with a bloody nose and a black eye, with his knickerbocker suit the worse for the scuffle, he has had his first lesson in the equality of the boyhood kingdom, but he is usually received with open arms by an indulgent mother and the father rarely has sense enough to tell him that he has no sympathy for him, unless he came out first best in the scrap.

If the only child in the home is a girl, she will be fortunate if she doesn't develop the same sort of a one-sided disposition as the boy. The girl in normal condition is as vain as a peacock, and pride and vanity always go together. When these are centered in an only child the mother usually has time and inclination to encourage the delusion, and the father soon comes to believe that he has the most stylish girl in the town.

The girl needs the rough and tumble life of outside associations, as much as the boy, and unless she gets it, during the years of girlhood, the life ahead will contain many disappointments, for illusions of this kind seldom pass the age of maturity.

The good Lord never intended that there should be any untidiness in the realm of childhood and youth, and it is quite doubtful if he did any planning for it in any other realm. The child in normal condition knows nothing about class distinction, and when the little mind is poisoned by suggestions of superiority, a grave injustice has been committed.

The public schools and public playgrounds encourage the democracy natural to these early years, but the latter are not half appreciated. Our children slip away from home of an evening and wander up and down the street, and we criticize the places of amusement for taking them in, and the officers for not sending them home.

If we belong to the church we pray for them and long to have them in the prayer meeting, forgetful of the fact that the healthy young animals are not very devotional, and if they were they would be abnormal.

We censure the church for not providing wholesome and attractive amusements, and yet if this were possible it would only reach a fragment of the young people of the city, unless there was a union of effort along these lines, on the part of all the churches.

About one third of our population, and the most important part of it, is under twenty years of age. We have lodges and clubs and saloons for our men and society functions of various kinds for our women, but about the only thing provided for our children is the Sunday school, where we are willing to let our neighbors furnish the instruction. The average boy drops out about the time he is old enough to become observing. Why shouldn't he?

We complain about our city government, the lack of law enforcement, and the low standards of morality, but what is our city and who is responsible? We, the people, every mother's son of us. We have made the city what it is, not by any preconceived planning, but simply by neglect and indifference.

We have aimed high and been disappointed because impractical reform measures like prohibition have failed, regarding the saloon as the one and only evil, and have overlooked a lot of things within our reach, because they seemed insignificant.

It is worth something to save the remnant of a life from drink, but it is worth vastly more to safely environ a boy so that he will have no occasion or desire to seek companionship in the saloon, and to so protect the girl that she may go out into life with reputation untarnished. It might not be possible for the city to provide play grounds, skating parks and outdoor amusements for the young and active life all about us, and yet a little public money invested along these lines would produce wonderful and lasting results.

If it is beyond the province and disposition of the city, it is within the grasp of the individual, and no better work can be undertaken. If half a dozen enthusiastic men and women, interested in child life, will volunteer for the service, all the money necessary could be raised in short order.

It means roseate work of the best type for it provides wholesome occupation for our youthful citizenship and solves some very perplexing questions. Shall we have the volunteers. The Gazette offers its library room for organization and headquarters if desired and will be glad to aid in the work.

SCRIPTURE

John 12:44-50.

Jesus cried and said, He that believeth on me, believeth not on me, but on him that sent me.

And he that seeth me seeth him that sent me.

I am come a light into the world, that whosoever believeth on me should not abide in darkness.

And if any man hear my words, and believe not, I judge him not: for I came not to judge the world, but to save the world.

He that rejecteth me, and receiveth not my words, hath one that judgeth him: the word that I have spoken, the same shall judge him in the last day.

For I have not spoken of myself; but the Father which sent me, he gave me a commandment, what I should say, and what I should speak.

And I know that his commandment is life everlasting: whatsoever I speak therefore, even as the Father said unto me, so I speak.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYRE.

YOUR THINKING.

How often do you think?

"Why," you say, "I think practically all the time except when I am asleep."

If so you are a rare person. Most of us do not really think very often or very much. We only think we think.

Most of us let our minds drift. We give very little time to genuine reflection upon things that are worth while.

For instance—You drive along a country road. One moment you think of your horse, and the next a rabbit hops across the way, and interrupts your train of thought.

You get started when you meet a neighbor who suggests something else. And so on. You may put in an entire day in that sort of mental drifting and do scarcely any thinking.

Or—You are in a trolley car and look out the window. Your mind goes scurrying to keep up with the kaleidoscopic changes of the street scenes. "My, that auto just missed the car. There goes Mr. So-and-so. Such a noisy newsboy! How very warm it is!"

Do you see? Your thoughts have drifted as a boat, unattended, goes down the stream.

You have not been thinking at all, only dreaming. The wheels of your mental machinery have gone round, but no grit is turned out.

Real thinking requires concentration and continued mental effort.

You shut your mind's eye to things about you—the subconscious mind being on guard—and think and think.

The way to think is to think. You hold your faculties to one thing. If you hold them long enough from somewhere, I know not where, do you?—from somewhere, there come to you thoughts that are worth while.

So that if you want to do some real thinking you must be careful your mind does not skip around the corner at some outside suggestion.

If it does go thus scampering take it by the scruff of the neck and the slack of the breeches and bring it back. Bring it back seventy times seven, if necessary, or until you can make it do some thinking for you.

VEGETABLES SHORT ON LOCAL MARKETS

Local Grocers Unable to Get Chicago Vegetables Because of Delayed Transportation.

Owing to the fact that the entire train service has been thrown out of schedule for the past two days the local grocers have been unable to get the vegetables for which they have been waiting. For this reason there is a scarcity of all kinds of vegetables and with the exception of a little which has been held over there are almost none of the Chicago products today on the local markets.

What Does "Best" Mean To You When Stores Are Talked of?

Best service, is it not?

Best usefulness in filling your individual needs?

It is along the lines of public service that this store strives to be best.

We have made our store pleasant in looks. We have spent much time in working out its most convenient arrangement. We have put the best people to be had at the head of each branch of the business, and keep them up on tip toe, that every minute of every day you may depend on the best they can do. That is the keynote of the store's effort. Nothing less than the best in every line will "do." We shouldn't deserve to have and to hold the chief favor of thousands of people in two states, Wisconsin and Illinois, otherwise. We are holding it; we mean to.

INCOME TAX LAW IS DISCUSSED AT CLUB

Men's Club of Edgerton Congregational Church met at Whittett Home, last evening.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Edgerton, Jan. 4.—The most important meeting of the season held by the Men's Club of the Congregational church was held last night at the residence of Mrs. J. D. Whittett. The matter for discussion was "The Income Tax Law." Andrew McIntosh handled the affirmative and L. W. Persons the negative. After the matter was ably presented by both speakers others present voiced their sentiments making the meeting an interesting and profitable one. At the close refreshments were served.

Edgerton News Notes.
The Culture Club will meet Monday evening with Mrs. J. M. Conway. Whooping cough has broken out among small children of various families of the city and the attack in most cases is severe.

The burning out of a chimney at the residence of William Schenckmeyer in the second ward called out the fire department last night at about 8:30. No damage resulted.

Even the oldest inhabitant cannot recall a spell of winter weather which in severity lasted as long as the present spell. The suffering caused thereby, especially to the poor, is intense. The train service is badly impaired and all trains are from one to two hours late.

The present cold spell of weather has sadly interfered with the delivery of tobacco to the local warehouses in this city. Today, however, being slightly more mild scores of farmers from all directions came in with their crops.

Sunday at the Churches.
At the M. E. church there will be services both morning and evening; preaching by the pastor, Rev. Mac. Linn. The subject in the morning will be "The Great Appeal." In the evening "Facing the Mistakes of Life." Epworth League at 6:15 p. m.

At the Congregational church there will be services both morning and evening. After the morning sermon, there will be communion, followed by reception of new members. Rev. H. F. Schenckmeyer of Harpersville, Wis., will preach at both services.

At St. John's German Lutheran church the 40th anniversary of its organization will be celebrated with appropriate services in the morning, afternoon and evening, speakers from abroad taking part.

At the Norwegian Lutheran church Rev. Linnestad will conduct services in the morning.

The Natural Result.

BUSINESS MEN TALK ON REASSESSMENTS

Consensus of Opinion is That Janesville Will Suffer Materially From the Action.

Consensus of opinion is that Janesville will suffer from the reassessment or readjustment of taxes, that have just been completed by the state tax commission.

Prominent business men and large property owners in the city are free to express their views on the matter and almost all agree that the result will be anything but a benefit to the city at large.

In a discussion of the reassessment of the taxes, P. H. Korst, of the Electric Light and Power Company, spoke as follows:

"The reassessment of Janesville property will tend to discourage people from moving to this city, and may also have the same tendency in regard to manufacturing concerns which might otherwise settle here.

"In regard to our business it will decrease the amount, as we are dependent upon the number of people and factories who reside in the city for our profits. The increased expense of operation puts off the time when rates will be allowed.

"In my opinion the reassessment will set the town back at least ten years in any possible headway which it might make.

"We have decided to drop a big campaign for new house lighting because of the feeling people have toward spending money on their houses since the reassessment.

"We were reassessed $100,000 on the water rights which we hold, when the state legislature recently passed a law, soon to take effect, that all water rights belonged to the state and they require private concerns to get a lease from the state and pay rental."

A. P. Lovejoy stated that he thought the immediate effect was very unfavorable in the way of giving the city bad advertising, but that it was too soon to tell what the effect would be on the city. He also said that he thought that the raising of so many taxes would discourage outside buyers from retaining or purchasing property here.

John Weber, Jr., stated that the Janesville Clothing Company would not give their opinion on the effect which the reassessment would have upon the business of that company.

When approached on the subject this morning, T. P. Burns gave his opinion that he did not believe the reassessment would in any way affect his business beyond slightly raising the running expenses. He also stated that as far as he knew of the subject, an increase in the taxation would not in any permanent way harm the city.

"There is no doubt in my mind," said Alexander E. Matheson, of the firm of Whitehead and Matheson, "that the reassessment will work an injustice to the manufacturer, and owner of manufacturing property. It has been the recognized custom throughout the state to favor the factory in the assessment of property and when this is done in other towns while Janesville is assessed to the full value, it appears unreasonable."

Mr. Matheson stated that as far as his own property was concerned, he did not believe that he would have an increase in taxes on the new assessment. Where the assessment has been uniformly raised throughout the city the rate must be naturally lower and in many cases it might work a decrease in the amount of taxes.

W. S. Jeffris, president of the Merchants and Savings Bank, declared that the reassessment would cause a depression in real estate values and in the return from real estate property which are low enough in Janesville at the present time. In his opinion the investment in real estate would be materially lessened and capital would be generally cautious in engaging in business in this city. He believed that the entire agitation was unequalled for.

John G. Rexford, president of the First National Bank, was rather non-committal on the question of the effect of the reassessment. He said it was difficult to state just what effect would be produced as the matter required considerable study. There was no doubt he said but that there has been a substantial rise in the assessed valuation but the entire matter might be adjusted in time.

C. S. Jackson, president of the Rock County National Bank, did not care to be quoted as to his opinion of the reassessment. He took the attitude that the entire matter was unequalled for and had around it undue amount of trouble and discussion.

May Loss Factories
The least amount of advertising concerning the subject, the better," said A. E. Bingham, cashier of the Bower City Bank. "The affair has hurt the city and I have the statement of one manufacturer that he will not be in Janesville at the end of another year. There is a danger of losing one or more of our factories." Mr. Bingham ventured the opinion that reassessment as between property-owner and property in the city was not as equitable as might be supposed, as it certainly was a fact that much of the real estate had been over-assessed. This was also the opinion of several of the other men interviewed.

That there would scarcely be any more use for the industrial and commercial club in the capacity of bringing new industries to Janesville was the opinion of Archie Reid. He believed the damage to the city through the high reassessment valuations was irreparable. In his opinion assessments had been raised entirely too high.

Injures City Reputation
"There is no doubt in my mind that this reassessment will injure the reputation and commercial prospects of the city," said Attorney T. S. Nolan. "The increase in the valuation of our several manufacturing enterprises will hurt more than anything else. Every city in the country is favoring its factories. If we do not lose at least one of our best factories as the result of this, I will be agreeably disappointed."

"There is an confident no new enterprises will come here. I do not own a dollar of stock in any manufacturing institution. Everything I have invested in the city of Janesville is in real estate, so I believe this will be taken as my honest opinion. I know the Gazette will not publish my opinion of the man who is responsible, for this trouble. Therefore, I will say nothing about him at this time." It was difficult to say just what the effect would be on the city from a retailer's standpoint. It might work a damage and it might not make any difference. He believed that the agitation might have been avoided.

Peter L. Myers deplored the injustice of the raising of assessed valuation in Janesville compared with the lower values in other cities of the state. He believed that the valuation had been placed too high in numerous cases when property in Janesville was hard to sell.

DEBATERS PREPARED FOR BELOIT EVENT

Members of Two High School Teams Have Speeches Ready for Contest With Beloit, Jan. 19.

Members of the high school debating teams which will meet the teams of the Beloit high school Jan. 19th, have the constructive work of their speeches completed, and the remaining two weeks will be devoted to delivery and rebuttal work. Prof. H. C. Buell, who has been coaching the teams, has just completed the correction of the speeches which have been handed back to the debaters.

A change has been announced by the Beloit college management of the debates to the effect that the affirmative teams will remain at home while the negative teams will visit the opposing school. This applies to all the schools in the league.

In the two contests between Beloit and Janesville, the team winning the highest number of points or judges' decisions, will meet the winner of the Kenosha-Racine contests on the fourth Friday in February. The Rockford teams have withdrawn from the league, which leaves only three schools in the league in Illinois, for whom special arrangements will be necessary to decide the team which will represent the state in the interstate event next spring.

The question which all the teams will debate is: "Resolved—That as far as Illinois and Wisconsin are concerned, Women Should be Granted Equal Suffrage With Men."

Janesville's affirmative team, which will appear in the debate here, is composed of Thomas Poulkes, leader and third speaker; Robert Cunningham, second speaker; and Stanley Metcalf, first speaker.

Negative team which goes to Beloit is composed of Charlie McArthur, leader and third speaker; Stanley Ford, second speaker; and Louis French, first speaker.

JANESVILLE FEELS EFFECTS OF COLD

Thermometer Ranged Around Twenty Below This Morning.—No Relief in Sight.

Frozen water, and even gas pipes, depleted coal bins and wood piles, tell the story of the extreme cold felt in Janesville this past week. With the thermometer ranging around twenty below early this morning and from twelve to fifteen below at noon, the cold has become intense.

The only persons who appear to be grateful for the steady zero weather are the proprietors of the City Ice Company, who state that they expect to begin cutting on Monday next and will have a good crop of ice.

Inquiries at the plumbing shops in the city show that there have been an unusual number of frozen water pipes and considerable damage done by pipes freezing when thawed or breaking when water was applied and flooding ceilings, ruining costly furniture and rugs. For the most part this was caused by leaving windows open the cold nights and the pipes becoming frozen and then thawing when the rooms warmed. Several cases of pipes breaking in boilers are reported as the result of cold with considerable damage done.

One member of a prominent plumbing firm stated today that never in the history of their business had so many calls come in for aid and that all the men they could employ were at work thawing pipes and still could not meet the demands made upon them. "Quite an industry was created by several young men who owned 'blow pipes' who went from door to door in one section of the city and thawed pipes that the property owner could not reach with tin kettles or hot water."

MRS. NELLIE SABIN DIED LAST EVENING

Had Made Her Home in Janesville for Forty Years—Funeral to Be Held Monday Afternoon.

Mrs. Nellie S. Sabin, widow of the late O. D. Sabin, passed away at her home, 110 Locust street, Friday evening, Jan. 5th, at 8:15 o'clock. She was born at Hornell, N. Y., Oct. 8, 1824, was married to O. D. Sabin, of Smith's Mills, N. Y., Sept. 29, 1854, and came west in 1855, locating at Dubuque, Iowa. In 1861 she moved to Janesville and has resided here since, except seven years spent in Channahon, Ill.

Mrs. Sabin was a member of the Congregational church and Ladies' Homeopathic society. She was a noble, Christian character, possessing a rare, kindly nature and her loss will be most keenly felt by her warm personal friends and especially by her niece, who has been a constant companion since the death of Mr. Sabin.

She is survived by two brothers, John West Smith of Buffalo, N. Y., and Hiram Smith of Smith's Mills, N. Y., and several nephews and nieces.

One niece, Miss Maude Barnard, has made her home with her aunt for the past ten years and has tenderly cared for her during her lingering illness of the past two years. Another niece, Miss Marjorie Barnard of Smith's Mills, N. Y., arrived here Thursday and to them is extended the sympathy of many friends.

The funeral services will be held at the home on Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Out of deference to sentiments expressed by the deceased in life, friends are requested to omit flowers.

James Connors.
Relatives and friends of the late James Connors held their last tribute to his memory this morning, attending the funeral mass celebrated by the Rev. Father W. A. Goshel at St. Mary's church. Many beautiful floral tokens were contributed, and a large number attended the service. Those acting as bearers were: John Quinn, E. Storme, John Mosher, P. A. Gibbs, Thomas Flynn and Stephen Welch.

PROF. LAUGHLIN IS FAMED AS AUTHORITY

Illinois Professor Who Will Speak Here Next Friday Evening is Authority on Monetary Questions.

Prof. James Laurence Laughlin of the university of Illinois who has accepted the invitation of the Industrial and Commercial club to speak to the business men of the city on the monetary problems next Friday evening, is far famed as an authority on all money and economic questions. Regarding his recent work the World today says:

"During the debates on the silver question, Mr. Laughlin was an active supporter of the old standard. At the famous mass meeting of men of all parties at Cooper Union in New York, February 11, 1891, the meeting to which Grover Cleveland sent his famous letter against the free coinage of silver, Prof. Laughlin was a speaker. The same winter he engaged in many public debates on the same question. At the invitation of the International Monetary Commission at Indianapolis, he formulated a report which was embodied in the federal law of March 14, 1900. At the request of the Republic of San Domingo he framed a law for the monetary system of that country. In the recent presidential campaign he has been many times sought as an expert in judging the plan of guaranty of bank deposits, and recently was summoned to Washington as an authority on the tariff."

District Attorney Dundwiddie and Judge Elford today received notification of an application for the parole of three men sent to the penitentiary from here among them Joseph Furcer, the Italian who shot a companion at the Northwestern yards two years ago. Furcer was sent up for two years for attempted murder on October 13, 1910. The other two were for Harold Rowley, who was sent up for eight months on July 27, 1911 for obtaining money under false pretenses and Roy A. Stinson, who was sent up for one year on a statutory charge on June 10, 1911. The application is merely a formality gone through before a man is released from the penitentiary.

SET FLOOR ON FIRE
THAWING PLUMBING

Fire Department Called to Home of Charles Wesley This Morning—Damage Only Nominal.

Desperate efforts to thaw out frozen pipes resulted in setting the floor of the Charles Wesley home, 620 North Washington street on fire this morning. The fire department was called out at nine o'clock by a silent alarm, and Chief Kline's auto, wagon No. 4, and the patrol went to their assistance. The fire had just begun to come through the floor when they arrived and the firemen succeeded in extinguishing it before more than nominal damage had been done. Chemicals were used.

TEACHERS' MEETING

MANY COMPLAINTS TO ASSESSORS ON HIGH VALUATIONS

Kept Busy Answering Inquiries and Making Explanations—All Not Dissatisfied.

Ever since the reassessment figures have been opened to public inspection the Tax Commission experts have been undergoing exposure to almost endless volleys of inquiries for information, requests for explanations of their methods of determining property values, and it would seem, an almost equal number of complaints, couched in language varying from mild protests to well registered, loud reconding verbal "kicks."

But there are among those who call at the assessors' quarters in the city hall a few who are satisfied with the values placed on their property. One of the possessors of a small holding expressed his opinion this morning that his assessment was very equitable.

The comment of tax payers take a good many different forms; one of the commonest is that they would sell their property for so much below the assessor's figures, or that they had unsuccessfully offered it for sale at such much less. Not a few protest that they paid so-and-so much for a property, and that it has been assessed at a figure which allows nothing for depreciation. Others argue that there has been no unusual increment in the value of their holdings.

One of the most common disputes is on the question whether the selling price of property is its rightful assessable value. Taxpayers quite generally make the contention that it is, though it is impossible in making valuations to rely upon statements to that effect.

Not much, if any difference is to be noted in the valuation of unimproved property. Comparisons made in the assessment of a number of lots in the Mole & Sadler addition in the First ward showed only the change of valuation from an eighty per cent to a hundred per cent basis. Twenty-eight lots in the Milmore addition in the Fifth ward, the property of the Janesville Realty company, were valued at $1,200 in the old assessment rolls, and are valued at $1,400 in the new.

The Janesville Street Railway and the Interurban railway inside city limits were not assessed by the Tax Commission experts who made the reassessment of city properties. They will be assessed directly by the State Commission experts who will come to Janesville next week. The valuation of public utilities in the city will be completed and final by next Saturday and the Board of Review will meet in the following Monday instead of on Friday as previously announced.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

Madison Defeats Beloit: One of Janesville's most dangerous opponents was badly defeated last night at the college gym when Beloit lost a game to Madison high school by a score of 43 to 14. Although Beloit beat Madison out for state honors last year at Appleton they could not make a good impression on them this year and were run away with. Janesville has a game with Beloit which their defeat does not make them disappointed over the result when they meet the line city aggregation.

Patrol Takes Man Home: The patrol was called out this afternoon when an aged citizen of this city was found in an unconscious state in the Court House park about two o'clock. He was taken home at once where he was carried for before he was affected much by the cold, but might have frozen to death had he not been found when he was.

Marriage License: A license to wed was issued at the office of the county clerk today to Paul O. F. Zahn and Emma L. C. Willing, both of Janesville.

Judge Here Tuesday: Judge Grinn will be at the circuit court next Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 9, to hear matters which may come before the court at that time.

Committee Finish Work: The county committee which have been at work preparing their reports and auditing bills to be presented at the meeting of the county board Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 9, have completed their sessions.

Wanted, copies of The Gazette July 1, 11, Sept. 25, 11, and Dec. 1, 11. Will be paid for at The Gazette office.

Days Without Jam.

THE rule is," said the Queen to Alice, "jam yesterday and jam to-morrow, but never jam today."

Lewis Carroll has many a clever thrust in his nonsense, and never was a shrewder one than this. For those who never have jam today do not all dwell in the puzzling realm Alice discovered. There's many a queen ruling a household, in which there is never jam today. There's many a woman ruling herself who never has jam today. It is ever jam tomorrow. Nor is it always women who make this the rule for those about them. Many a husband hands out this doctrine to his wife, many a father to his children. And those thus governed feel, like Alice, the desolation of jamless days.

The course of reasoning of those who never have jam is not exactly like the Queen's, who said, "We have jam every other day, but today is never the other day." The people who never have jam today are usually going to have jam tomorrow or next week or next year. But, whatever the course of reasoning, the result is usually the same, the jam never appears.

But we need jam occasionally. Alice said she didn't want jam every day, but she did long for it once in awhile. All of us do. It is part of our human nature. And it is not well never to have the day for jam to come.

So, instead of next week or next month or next year taking that holiday we have been wanting, take it now. Don't put off that trip to Europe any longer. Spread this most delectable jam on your bread and butter today. Let that trip to the Zoological Gardens you have been promising the children be on today's program. Let it be no longer a part of tomorrow's. And that visit home to see father and mother, no longer should that belong to the future. It will be jam for them as well as for you, and no doubt they are hungry for it.

There is nourishment in jam just as much as in bread and butter. And there is food for the mind and spirit in the right kind of pleasure. We need to get away from the treadmill now and then. It is not extravagant. It is not foolishness. It is not a waste of time.

So those of us who have formed the habit of always planning jam for tomorrow, let's indulge in some at once. Life will immediately look brighter. The very prospect of jam lightens the spirits. Why not go to-night to that play or concert you are thinking about taking in at the end of the week. If you let it go, when the end of the week comes, you will probably decide to take in something that is coming next week instead. And thus the jam never appears. Take that little week-end this week, that you have been thinking of so long.

Bread and butter rollishes better because of a little jam occasionally, and the daily routine of life goes much more easily if we give ourselves little pleasures now and then. But we must actually take them, not plan to take them in a future that never arrives.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

THE sociable woman is one who, having nothing to do, comes around and bothers one who has.

You may have brains, but can you prove it?

CHAFING DISH DAINTIES.

The chafing dish will ever be a welcome adjunct to any equipment, for one may in a few moments prepare hot soup or a drink with little trouble.

There seems to be in the minds of many that the chafing dish is a modern invention. In fact, it is one of the most ancient, for chafing dishes have been found in the ruins of Pompeii and the Egyptians used similar dishes at the time of the captivity of the Israelites.

The chafing dish of today has kept alive the dress of hospitality in many a "third floor back" apartment, and bachelors and maids alike have become adepts in using the handy little home dish.

Shell fish, lobster, eggs and cream dishes are most adaptable to the chafing dish, and much of housewifely art has been revived by the workaday woman, who otherwise has little opportunity to exercise the art of cookery.

For breakfast dishes there is French toast, poached eggs and any number of creamed dishes.

French Fritters.—Mix and sift together a cup of flour, a half teaspoon of salt and two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Add three-fourths of a cup of milk, one egg well beaten and one tablespoonful of melted butter. Fry same as griddle cakes. When cooked, spread with currant jelly, roll and sprinkle with powdered sugar. Heat the jelly or beat it with a fork before spreading.

Anchovy Toast.—Toast four slices of bread from which the crusts are removed, and spread with anchovy paste. Scald a cup of milk, add two egg yolks and stir constantly until it thickens. Beat the whites of two eggs until stiff, add the milk, beat thoroughly and pour over the toast.

Buttered Eggs.—Melt three-fourths tablespoonful of butter in a hot blazer. Slip in carefully one egg, sprinkle with salt and pepper and cook until the white is firm, turning once during the cooking. Do not attempt to cook more than one egg at a time.

Grilled Oysters.—Clean a pint of oysters and drain off the liquor. Put the oysters in a blazer, and as fast as the liquor flows remove it with a spoon. Continue until the oysters are plump. Season with butter, pepper and salt, and serve on crackers.

UP-TO-DATE HOUSEKEEPING.

Good But Economical Cookery For Cold Weather and Good Appetites.

By Alice E. Whitaker.

Theories of scientific facts about nutrition are all right in their places, says one woman, but give me some definite recipes for food that will satisfy my family at the three meals that come along so regularly. With her request in mind the following rules are given: Nothing is better now and then on a cold day than a creamy celery soup served hot. Chop enough celery quite fine to fill a pint measure and put in a sauce pan with twice as much water. Simmer until tender and soft. Melt a rounded tablespoon of butter, add the same amount of flour and, when rubbed smooth, add two cups of hot milk and cook three minutes, stirring to keep it smooth. Add to the celery also two more cups of hot milk; cook ten minutes and season with salt and pepper. Serve hot.

For a good corn cake pour one cup of boiling water on to one and three-quarters cups of corn meal and beat until smooth. Have ready one-half cup of clear salt pork chopped as fine as possible. Rub this into the scalded meal then set aside to cool.

Beat one egg, add one cup of sour milk, a rounded tablespoon of sugar and add the meal. Stir well together then add one cup of flour sifted with one-half level teaspoon of soda and four level teaspoon of baking powder. Beat hard and bake in a moderate oven. Serve warm.

Many like a meat substitute occasionally both for the taste and the economy of it. Among the articles that are in any degree competent to fill the place of meat beans have a high rank as shown by the ever popular baked beans.

To give variety to the manner of serving this vegetable cook a pint of the small pea beans over night in plenty of cold water. Drain, cover with cold water and bring slowly to the boiling point. Cook five minutes, add one-quarter level teaspoon of soda and cook five minutes longer. Drain well, pour on fresh boiling water to more than cover, add one-half of a medium sized onion sliced and cook slowly several hours or until soft.

This can be done on the range, in the oven or in the fireless cooker, but if put in the latter allow less water as none evaporates in cooking. When the beans are cooked to a thick mush press through a wire strainer to take out the skins. Season with salt and pepper and form into small cakes, or in rolls, and roll in flour. Fry in a basket in deep hot fat until well colored. The cakes may be prepared several hours before frying.

For a speeded layer cake cream one cup of butter, add two cups of sugar and beat light then the yolks of four eggs beaten light. Beat this mixture until creamy, add one cup of butter-milk, three cups of flour sifted twice with two level teaspoon each of soda, salt, cloves and ginger and half a nutmeg grated. Beat three minutes then fold in the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs. Bake in layers then put together with a soft boiled icing.

Card gingerbread is an almost forgotten sweet cake. Cream one-half cup of butter, add slowly one cup of brown sugar beating well. Add one beaten egg, a tablespoon of salt, a level teaspoon of ginger, one half level teaspoon of soda dissolved in two teaspoon of water and stirred into one-half cup of sour milk. Add just three cups of flour. Be careful in adding the last of the flour as it may not all be needed. The dough must be as soft as can be handled; divide it in halves and press out half an inch thick to fit pans, mark in squares and bake about eight minutes.

CURIOUS BITS OF HISTORY

THE CITY OF SHORT BREAD.

By A. W. MACY.

Not many people of today would recognize the metropolis of Missouri by the name "Pain Court," yet that name was quite generally applied to St. Louis in its early days. Leclerc, who founded it in 1764, loyally called it after his French sovereign, Louis XV.; but the people of the other villages up and down the Mississippi and along the Ohio and the Wabash derisively nicknamed it "Pain Court." It appears that the French settlers of St. Louis neglected agriculture, and devoted nearly all their time to hunting and trapping and trading with the Indians. On this account, and because a considerable garrison was maintained at the fort, provisions were scarcer and higher priced than they were in the other villages. The people of the latter, who frequently came here to trade, took note of this, especially the high price and scarcity of bread, and dubbed the place "Pain Court," which in French signifies short or scant bread.

DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

PEANUT NOT A CONFECTION.

"Peanuts eaten raw," says the editor of Good Health, "are not particularly objectionable if relished. When peanuts are roasted they are more or less burned. The large amount of fat which they contain is itself decomposed, and irritating acids are produced. Roasted peanuts are very difficult of digestion." Several years ago the writer made extensive experiments with peanuts, showing that the practice of roasting them is decidedly injurious, although other authorities then disagreed with the findings; and in view of the fact that the peanut may be substituted for meat and is the richest of all foods, as shown by the bulletin issued by the department of agriculture, it is important that this should be understood by people who are in the habit of looking upon the peanut more as a confection than as a substantial food.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

I MET a friend of mine, a woman whom I admire and look up to, on the trolley car the other day, and found her reading a very cheap magazine, of which I had formerly heard her express the greatest disapproval.

"Why, how comes it that you are reading this?" I questioned. She looked shamefacedly down at the magazine, which she had made a partial attempt to hide under her bag. "Well," she said, "you see, I had to wait at the dentist's one day, and I picked up one of the summer numbers and got tremendously interested in So-and-So's new serial. And since then, I've been buying the magazine just to follow that up. Yes, I know it's a silly story and not a particularly nice one, but really it's awfully clever and interesting."

Let me tell you something about this magazine and this story. The story, which was written by a well-known modern writer, was offered first to another magazine of good repute and good standing. The editors read it and acknowledged that it was tremendously interesting, and that it would be a big card, but they said: "It is not the kind of stuff we want to offer to the young men and women of America," and they refused it. The less scrupulous magazine accepted it, and by dint of combining several similar stories with it, actually succeeded in completely selling out one particular issue of its publication.

And this was the kind of magazine and story my friend was advertising, by admitting that the story was so awfully clever and interesting that she had to follow it up against her better judgment. To be sure, she also said that it was not particularly nice, but to how many people would be an edifying deterrent? Consideration of morbidly sensational and sex-dramatic stories, it is impossible to blink the fact that disapproval would be to many a most powerful magnet.

My friends, the women of America, I think there's only one way for us to treat the decadent and sensational literature that is being offered to us so abundantly just now. And that way is most emphatically NOT to read it and say we don't like it, because it isn't particularly nice, and yet all the time advertise it by talking about it—even though we talk against it! Any publishing agent will tell you that much talk is often the very best kind of advertising, and is always preferable to silence.

No, the way to put our foot down on such literature and trample it right out of existence, is not to buy it, not to read it, not to talk of it—in fact, to ignore it as completely as possible.

Don't add your dime or your dollar to strengthen the "box-office" argument that makes the publisher think the American public wants that sort of thing.

Don't add your voice to the discussion for and against that makes everybody want to read the book or the story, so as to be able to talk about it. For every head that you chop off this serpent by denunciation, two more heads grow—for every story that you advertise in this way, two more stories will be published.

No, the only way to kill the serpent of sensational literature is by ignoring him. Don't look at him, don't feed him with the silver and gold he must have to support life, and I think you will be surprised to see how very soon he will die and his ugly body dry up and blow away and be forgotten.

FOR THE COLLEGE GIRL.

This extremely plain but smart-looking coat is made from black and gray striped Oxford cloth, and suggests the one-time favored rapunzel model. Note the attractive arrangement of shoulders and the clever insertion of sleeves. Every line is perfect and on this depends the successful finish of the garment.

ENTIRELY BALD

Her Hair Commenced to Grow After Two Weeks' Use of Newbro's Herpicide.

"Fever caused me to be entirely bald. I had given up all hope of again having hair when I was advised to use Herpicide. After two weeks my hair commenced to grow." I now have the most beautiful head of hair anyone ever saw. Praise to Newbro's Herpicide."

Thus writes Mrs. Howard Bailey, of Bellevue, Mich. We can point to thousands of instances where the proper use of Herpicide has been followed by a remarkable growth of hair.

Newbro's Herpicide is the original remedy which kills the dandruff germ and stops falling hair.

One Dollar Size Bottles are sold and guaranteed by all druggists. Send 10c in postage for sample and booklet to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich.

Applications may be obtained at the best barbers and hair dressers.

These are bargain days. Read Gazette ads, and profit.

THE TRIO OF WOOL.

Wool will be very much in evidence in stylish outdoor raiment this year. Here is an attractive coat made of Irish or soft Vienne, with ice-wool knitted scarf and a rough wool hat trimmed with flowers made of woolen yarn. This represents real warmth and is thoroughly appropriate for all outdoor recreation.

CHIC PER SET.

Nowadays one's muff, handbag, scarf and hat must match, and they should be of fur to be strictly fashionable. One furrier is showing a delightful collection of these sets, and for the benefit of our readers our artist has sketched one of amina. The hat of this lovely skin is trimmed with an immense bow of black satin ribbon, the ends bordered with a narrow silk fringe. The scarf is quite plain and falls considerably below waist line, and the bag also is trimmed with a bow of satin ribbon. In place of the popular long cord there is a chain fashioned from satin rings and joined midway with a bow of satin ribbon. The muff is of the large pillow type.

Matchless Flour Is the Ideal Cake Flour

Even plain bread baked from Christian's Matchless Flour has a nutty flavor.

Cake baked from Matchless Flour is richer, lighter and ovenier than can possibly be made from any other flour sold in Janesville.

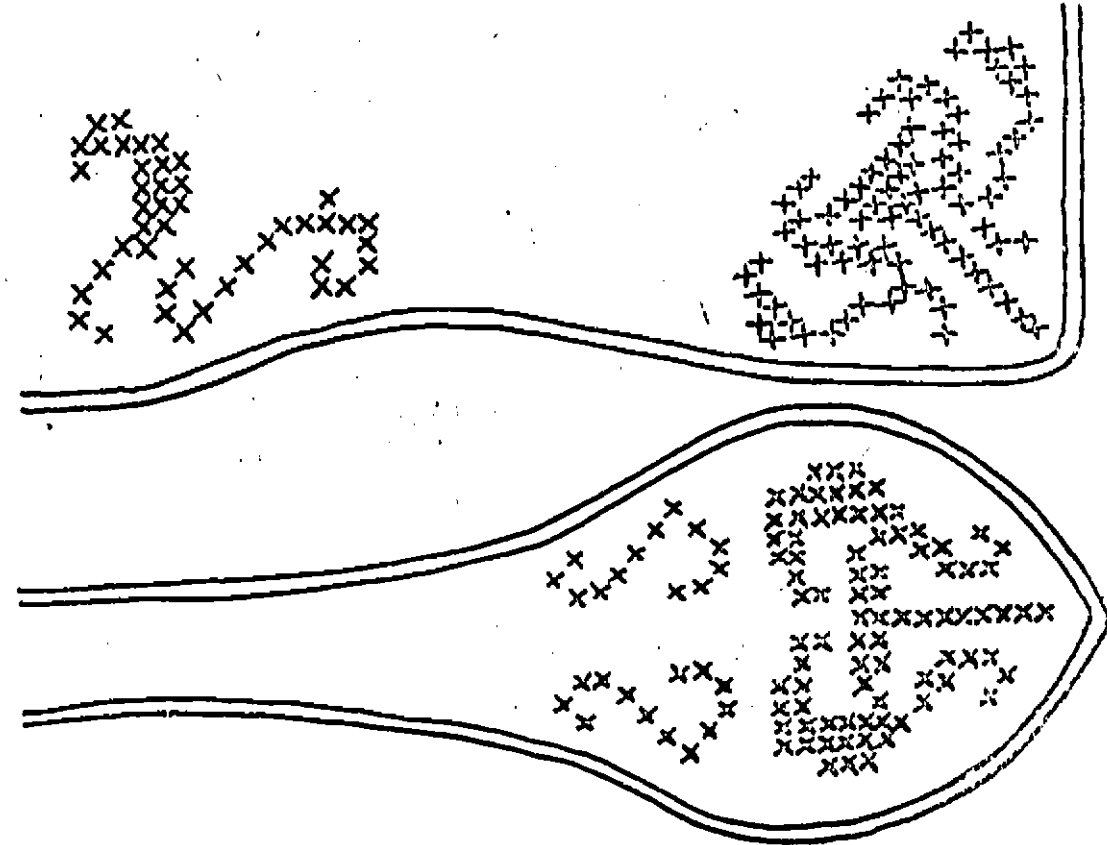

The proof may be had by any woman who will give Matchless Flour a trial.

Satisfaction is guaranteed in every sack—you'll gain a reputation as a baker of delicious cakes once you know the difference between Matchless Flour and other flours.

COLLAR AND TAB IN CROSS STITCH.

Half of the collar design and the tab to match in cross stitch are given today. The collar must be duplicated to make the whole pattern. The edge is padded and then closely buttonholed. The cross stitch is done by working all the stitches which slant in one direction first, and then crowning them by those which slant in the opposite direction working from left to right. The collar is sewed into a band when finished. Use mercerized cotton No. 14.

NEWS OF THE WEEK AT COUNTY SCHOOL

Teachers' Training School is a Busy Place During the Present Weeks
—Work Being Done—

The second series of tests for the second quarter have been in progress
during the past week. The second quarter examinations will be given in about ten days.

On Friday we received a new piece of furniture in the form of a reading
table, which will prove to be a useful part of our equipment as well as a most beautiful ornament.

We have five good places for young women students to work for their board, and we would be pleased to hear from girls who would like to enter our school on Monday, Jan. 22.

We will admit those possessing strong character who are sixteen years of age and who hold common school diplomas.

At the next meeting of the Philosophical club this will tell a humorous story and this will constitute the main part of the program.

Our students board all the way from two to thirty blocks from the school building.

The physical geography class has recently been making a special study of the weather maps in connection with a consideration of Wisconsin
weather and Wisconsin climate.

Principal Lathrop gives a talk next week at Edgerton on "The Training School."

There has recently been appointed a committee, a reading table, a committee, and a librarian. We learn to do by doing.

During the third quarter we shall devote a good deal of our time in the library society to a study of the subject of debating, and during the fourth quarter we expect to have several programs on the interpretation and use of pictures in the school work.

"By a vote of twenty-four to six, the board of supervisors of Eau Claire county decided to establish a county agricultural school to open next fall.
This school will be run in connection with the county training school."

Wisconsin Journal of Education.

All of our students are back in school, and the work is progressing nicely. Our students are regular and punctual in attendance usually.

By a vote of eleven to ten, the county board of supervisors of Taylor county adopted a resolution providing for a county training school building
at Phillips to cost $25,000.

Our students will study a little book, "The Dictionary Habit," and put into practice the suggestions found therein.

The school management class has been making a special study of class school programs.

We have received the annual report of the Winnebago, Ill., country schools, and the book is a work of art.
Supt. C. J. Kern is the county superintendent, and has been for ten years.

We have been sending out a number of letters recently advertising our school. Are the friends of the school doing anything to help us? We need your help, especially this first year.
What are you doing? The best thing you can do is to say a good word for us, and get young women to come to our school next year.

Our new subjects for next quarter
are as follows: American History, Mathematics, The Manual, Agriculture,
and Civics.

We would like to see two classes of students in our school: High school graduates who can complete our work in one year, and common school graduates who will need two full years or more to complete the course.
We would be glad to have these young women born and reared in the country and willing to go to the country to teach.

We now have a picture gallery in one corner of our main room.

Now Glarus, Jan. 6.—Misses Kathryn Stauffer and Ottilie Becker and Ellen Elmer have returned to Monroe to resume studies at school
there.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Zwiefel of Monticello are here visiting with the ladies parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Duerrst have returned to their home at Monroe,
after a short visit with friends here.
Joe Guert has arrived here after a few months' stay at Monticello.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Helgeson of Or-fordville, are here visiting with relatives and friends.

Yesterday occurred the annual stockholders meeting of the Citizens Bank.

Gov. (retired) Langbehn of Monticello,
was here for a short stay yesterday.
Mrs. Fred Struff Jr., went to Monticello yesterday, to pay a visit to her mother who is on the sick list.

WEST CENTER

West Center, Jan. 5.—Wm. Adcox, Sr., who has been confined to his bed the past six weeks with a severe attack of the grippe, is convalescing
and able to around part of the day.
Dr. Lacey was called New Year's night to attend Frank Walter's twin baby who was seriously ill. The little one was threatened with pneumonia, but is now gaining.

Mr. and Mrs. James Pepper entertained Mr. and Mrs. Edson Brown and mother New Year's day. A very enjoyable time was had by all present.

All the sick in our community are now gaining in health.

Mrs. Will Harnack has been entertaining her cousins Gust and Elsie Gutierrez of Nebraska.

Mr. and Mrs. William Harnack
were callers on Hays Brown's family
New Year's day.

Mr. and Mrs. Benton Brown are entertaining a house party of Nebraska friends.

Mrs. George Miller has been entertaining her niece and nephew, Eddie and Frank Craig, of Oshkosh, Ohio.
Emma and James Adcox attended the funeral of the late Mauby Fish last Friday.

A gentlemen's sing party of card players has been organized in this vicinity. They meet at the different homes and play. The first meeting was held at Mrs. Walter's, the second at Mr. Brown's and the third will be held at Wm. Harnack's. A good time is enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Emma Tolleson is spending the holiday vacation with her sister, Mrs. H. W. Snyder.

BROOKLYN

Brooklyn, Jan. 6.—Mrs. A. Curless
and son Richard have been in Hurst,
Iowa, for two weeks to visit Mrs.
Curless' sister, who has been seriously ill. They will return home by way of Richland Center, where they will visit relatives.

Mrs. Ida De Gelle and daughter,
June of Madison, visited this week
at the A. Lindhartsen home.

The Messrs. Jessie Waite, and Elva and Mable Holberg were Evansville visitors Wednesday.

Christa Christensen has purchased
two acres of land next to the cemetery, of F. R. Boyce.

Miss Mary Burt returned home on Thursday after spending a week at Rosedale and North Freedom.

R. S. Gillen has been on the sick list several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernice Johnson and sons, left this week for their new home in Texas. Harvey Stark weather accompanied them and will stay in Texas for some time.

The mandrake dance given Wednesday evening at Norton's hall was well attended.

Miss Frances Karmgard of Chicago, is spending the week at her home here.

Miss Carrie Rollins has been visiting friends in Evansville.

BRODHEAD

Brodhead, Jan. 6.—J. A. Burt of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, is here for a few days, staying at the home of his son, J. A. Burt and family, and other relatives.

The ladies of St. Rose's Catholic church gave their first social last evening in Brodhead's annex, and notwithstanding the fearful cold weather
there was a goodly attendance. All report a fine time.

About the time of our last warm days one of our local trappers made
the usual evening visit to his traps, finding in one a quail, in another a mud turtle and a third contained a muskrat. A few fine mink are being taken along the river.

The Misses Marie Wittvor of Madison, and Minnie McCarthy of Belvi-
dore, who were guests of Mr. and Mrs.
Gus Baxter, returned to their home
on Wednesday.

A half dozen little friends gave Genevieve Collins a most pleasant surprise party Wednesday afternoon
with dropping in to spend a few hours with her. Choice refreshments were served, merry games of childhood were played, and little Miss Genevieve received many nice presents from her friends. It was a happy time and all enjoyed it.

Twenty degrees below zero this morning and with a strong wind blowing makes it difficult to keep buildings warm.

his plans and has returned to the city where he has been working for some time to move to Madison and has concluded to attend the Chicago Central Y. M. C. A. School of instruction to fit himself for the boy's work of the Y. M. C. A.

At the annual meeting of the society of the Congregational church,
Dr. C. W. Collier and E. H. Tubbs were re-elected us trustees for a term of three years to succeed themselves. Mr. Liram Cooper resigned his position as trustee and Mr. Edw.
P. Souman was elected to fill his unexpired term of one year. V. C.
Tuttle was elected moderator, and E. B. Kizer was elected. It was decided to hold the annual meetings hereafter in the evening at 7 o'clock instead of the afternoon.

The Bridge Club met yesterday afternoon with Mrs. E. W. Haddon.
Mrs. Emma L. C. Hatch won the prize.

EAGLE'S DRILL TEAM TO BE RE-ORGANIZED

Meeting Called For Sunday Afternoon
at Two Thirty by Captain Hans Jacke.

One of the preliminary steps for the big state convention of the Eagles to be held here this coming summer, will be the reorganization of the famous Eagle drill team. Captain Hans Jacke has issued a call for all members of the present team and others interested, to meet on Sunday afternoon at the Eagles Club rooms
to make arrangements for perfecting
the reorganization and arranging for drills.

It will be remembered that the drill team made a most successful showing during the recent Fourth of July celebration and their attracted drill on Monday evening drew more than a white attention. Their duty gray and white uniforms, their cavalry sabers and drill proved a big drawing card and they went through their marches and drills like veterans.

Much interest is being displayed in the coming convention and on Thursday night next the annual installation of officers of the local Aeris will be held, the appointment of committees for the convention and an address by State President Tol will take place. There will also be installation of candidates and a social session. The local Aeris committee's promises will be most elaborate.

John C. Nichols, president of the local Aeris, and state secretary, has just returned from an extended inspection of the neighboring lodges
and reports that he finds much enthusiasm there and that a large number will be present at the Janesville gathering which bids fair to be one of the most successful ever held in the state.

BEAVER FRATERNITY HOLD INSTALLATION

Grand Secretary Ben E. Wait of Stoughton Presides—Musical and Literary Program Given.

The new officers of Janesville Council No. 2 Beaver of Janesville Fraternity, were installed last evening at an open meeting, Ben E. Wait, Grand Secretary, presiding, and conducting the installation.

Following the ritual work a musical and literary program was given by members of the order and their friends, and light refreshments were served.

The Beavers have been prosperous
during the last year. During December thirty new members were taken in. The attendance at last evening's meeting was a large one.

SOUTH MAGNOLIA

South Magnolia, Jan. 6.—Martin Frost's children are being cared for by Beloit and Orfordville relatives.
Elliott Fraser delivered poultry in Footville Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Harper entertained relatives New Year's Day.
Misses Geo. McCaslin and two youngest children spent from Saturday until Wednesday with relatives west of Albany.

Just No. 6, is enjoying the holiday
vacation.

With the thermometer at 10 below zero we realize that winter is on the march.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Harper and daughter spent Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Van Slike and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Fraser and

STOMACH TROUBLE VANISHES AFTER TAKING A LITTLE DIAPEPSIN

Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn, Headache and other Disorders will go in Five Minutes.

If you had some Diapepsin handy and would take a little now your stomach distress or indigestion would vanish in five minutes and you would feel fine.

This harmless preparation will dissolve anything you eat and overcome sour, out-of-order stomach and you can realize it.

If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you do eat seems to fill you, or lays like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Ask your Pharmacist for a 50-cent
can of "Pape's Diapepsin" and take little just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching

MOST SEVERE WAVE IS STILL TO COME

Foster's Weather Bureau Forecasts Stormiest and Coldest Wave of Month Jan. 14 to 16.

Copyrighted 1911, by W. T. Foster.
Last bulletin gave forecasts of disturbance to cross continent Jan. 4 to 10, warm wave 5 to 9, cool wave 8 to 12. The temperature of this storm will average lower than usual and precipitation will be above the average of the month but not much rain is expected in January except that within a hundred miles of a line drawn from Tampa, Florida, via Jacksonville, Charleston, S. C., Raleigh, Pittsburg,
St. Louis, Ohio and to Milwaukee, the rainfall will be greater than usual. Colder than usual is expected on most parts of the continent from
Jan. 6 to 12.

Next disturbance will reach Pacific coast about Jan. 12, cross Pacific slope by close of 13, great central valleys 14 to 16, eastern section 17. Warm wave will cross Pacific slope about Jan. 12, great central valleys 14, eastern sections 16. Cool wave will cross Pacific slope about Jan. 15, great central valleys 17, eastern sections 18.

This disturbance will cause the most severe weather and storms of the month. This and the preceding disturbance will cause heavy rains or snows in the precipitation districts described above but not much precipitation elsewhere.

In the districts marked for Jan. precipitation the crop weather will be quite favorable to winter grain but colder districts are only a small part of the whole winter grain sections, therefore crop weather is expected to be unfavorable to winter wheat and other winter grain in at least three fourths of the winter grain sections.

Winter gardening is expected to be good in South Carolina, North Carolina and Florida but too dry elsewhere. Rather cold in Cuba for best results and Cuba will be dry during January.

The Pacific slope in the vicinity of Marysville and Sacramento promises to be cooler and dryer than usual
while in New England states warmer
and dryer than usual is expected.

The earth's electrophore is the

finally into other matter of which the earth is composed.

The electrophore of the earth is most dense at the earth's surface and it excludes the ether of space. The pressure of the ether of space drives more solid matter toward the earth as

Every plant and animal, planet,

system and conducts the force which is the life of the body while the other system gathers and disposes of the food that builds the body. Harvey discovered the circulation of the blood
in animal bodies and later investi-

"Some time ago I was taken with eczema
from the top of my head to my waist. It began with scales on my body. I suffered untold itching and burning, and could not sleep. I was greatly disfigured with scales and crusts. My ears looked as if they had been most cut out with a razor, and my neck was perfectly raw. I suffered untold agony and pain. I tried two doctors who said I had eczema in its fullest stage, and that it could not be cured. I then tried other re-

THE NERVE OF "NERVES"

By CHARLES FINDLAY CARTWRIGHT

W^hile we were building the spur track which runs north from Martins Junction to the Daledfield Gold Mines, and we were not having a very pleasant time of it. Young Gorman, who was in charge, was killing himself by day, trying to be in a dozen places at once, and worrying his soul out by night, explaining to the Old Man why he had not accomplished the impossible and run his line across short cuts where the Lord had evidently never intended a railroad should go.

There were several reasons why
Gorman was unusually anxious to live up to the Old Man's expectations. In the first place, the Old Man had the name of being a hard master, and he usually lived up to his name. He never accepted excuses from his men.
Either they made good, or they failed.
Those who failed, the Old Man once severely never given a chance to fall him a second time, while those who made good under him could count on securing a recommendation which would be taken at its face value anywhere in that part of the country.

Then there was the girl. There is usually a girl in the case when you see a young fellow breaking his neck
to make a name for himself, but in Gorman's case it was a little different from the general run. The girl was the Old Man's daughter, and as she was her father's confidante in almost all his affairs, Gorman knew that every good stroke he made carried him one degree higher in her favor;
so he got out early and came in late,
and seemed to forego because Nature
insisted on a few hours sleep each day.
Also, the Old Man had an inkling
of how Gorman felt toward his daughter, and if ever one man required brick of another, without furnishing him the straw, the Old Man required
it of Gorman on the Daledfield spur.
But for all of Gorman's exertions and his doing the work of two men during that spring and summer, the brick would not have been delivered on contract time had it not been for "Nerves."

"Nerves" drifted into camp one evening toward the last of April and asked for a job. He was not a very awe-inspiring figure, but men were hard to get, and harder to keep, so Gorman gave him a pick and sent him down to report to Nixon, who was hauling a thirty-ton boulder of the right of way. And it was there that "Nerves" was christened.

Nixon got his dynamite placed, and ordered his men out of the way while he touched off the fuse. Either the fuse was a little shorter than usual,
or Nixon a little slower, but at any rate, before he had got quite out of range, the blast went off. Nixon was knocked down by a piece of flying rock, which cut an ugly gash in his head and left him unconscious for a few seconds.

It really didn't amount to anything.
The men crowded around Nixon, who was up almost before they had reached him, and in a few minutes was able to resume his progress toward camp.

However, they had to carry a man
back to camp, after all. The new man toppled over almost simultaneously with Nixon, and it was not until after a dozen or so hatfuls of cold water had been dashed in his face that he showed any indications of returning consciousness, and even then he was so weak that he tottered into camp with a man supporting him

on each side.

"Where you hit, kid?" Nixon asked anxiously, as soon as the boy opened his eyes.

"Not hit," he stammered.
"Not hit?" Nixon cried. "Then what the blazes you kickin' up a row about?"

"I think it's my nerves, sir," the boy
said weakly.

"Nerves nuthin'!" Nixon roared disgustedly. "Well, come on 'Nerves'.
We'll get you back to camp, an' find you a nice, ladylike job damin' socks for the boys. You hadn't oughter be out here with us men. One of us might swear an' shock your nerves."

And that was how "Nerves" came by his name. Probably the paymaster had his real name on the payroll,
but even he yelled "Nerves" when he called him up for his week's pay, and the rest of us naturally fell into line without making any inquiries.

"Nerves" got along in an inconspicuous sort of way, doing odd jobs about camp for a couple of days, until the Old Man ran up from the Junction
to see how the work was progressing,
bringing his daughter with him.

The Old Man's visit resulted in an attack of the blues for Gorman, which even the half-hour's chat with the Old Man's daughter was not able to dispel. Half a dozen of our men had quit the previous week and gone up to Daledfield to work in the mines, and Gorman had not been able to replace them. Consequently, our progress had not been all that might have been desired.

The Old Man was not one to ask for excuses, as I have said before. It was only results which interested him,
and when the results were not what they should be, he was not at all backward in saying so.

But for "Nerves," the Old Man's visit proved a period of unalloyed joy, for he succeeded in attracting the attention of the Old Man's daughter,
and their acquaintance grew quickly
into a kindly interest on her part and a dog-like devotion on his. After that, Gorman, who was really too busy to notice anything not connected with his work, gave him a kindly word in passing and even put a stop to Nixon's teasing, which was a vast relief.

It was not until the middle of August that the Old Man's visits began to be a source of pleasure to Gorman. By that time, his hard work had begun to tell, and it looked as though we would complete the contract by the middle of September. In time to pick up the fifteen-thousand-dollar bonus for the company, and the Old Man grew almost cordial. It was quite a feather in Gorman's cap,

for everybody, including Gorman and the Old Man himself (though he did not say so), had thought that Gorman would do well to finish within the time the contract allowed, which was October first.

Gorman was evidently progressing with the girl as favorably as with his work, for the lines gradually began to disappear from his forehead and he looked fresher from his eyes, and one Sunday he ran down to the Junction and spent the day with her, which was the first real day of rest he had enjoyed since spring.

However, it was the very next day after Gorman's day of rest that our real troubles began. Johnson, one of the sub-bosses, marched his entire squad of nine men over to the Dale-field Mines, then only three miles distant, claiming that he had been dissatisfied a dollar a day more than our scale. And the next day a dozen more men left, giving the same reason.

That night Gorman sent "Nerves" down to the Junction with a note for the Old Man, and when he got back
the next morning the mystery of the delay was explained. The mining company had offered the railroad, as an inducement to build the twenty-five mile spur track, a cash bonus of fifty thousand dollars, to be paid thirty days after the completion. This meant thirty days grace to them if they could delay us until after the fifteenth, and as the Daledfield Mining Company was known to be temporarily in financial difficulties, owing to an unexpected panic back East, the delay would get them out of an exceedingly embarrassing position.

The Old Man also added a few lines
which, construed into plain English,
meant that he expected the Daledfield
spur to be completed by the fifteenth, regardless.

Gorman swore softly, muttered something to himself about throwing up the job, which he didn't mean, and then went out and sweated and planned until eleven that night.

When he came in and threw himself into his hammock without undressing, "Nerves" was waiting for him.

"Mr. Gorman," he said, "I'd like to try my hand with a pick again, tomorrow. The cook can get along without me."

"All right, 'Nerves,'" Gorman replied sleepily. "We need all the men
we can get right now."

"Nerves" arose, hesitated a moment, and then remarked sheepishly,
"She told me to help you all I could,
Mr. Gorman."

Gorman sat up. "Hallo, 'Nerves', are you a victim, too?"
"Nerves" blushed but stuck to his guns.

"She's a mighty fine girl, Mr. Gorman," he said.

Gorman rose. "Right you are,
'Nerves'. We'll shake hands on that."

"I suppose you're engaged, aren't you?" "Nerves" asked.

"Well, umph, you're going a little too fast, 'Nerves'." Gorman laughed.

"You see I've got to make a name for myself, first."

"If there's anything I can do to help," "Nerves" ventured.

"Why, thank you, old man, I'll remember that," Gorman replied, and "Nerves" went out.

For a week we heard nothing more of the increase in pay at the Daledfield Mines. Nevertheless, things did not run smoothly. Little things began to happen, calculated to discourage a man and to cause small delays. One morning, one of the big rollers suddenly stopped, and two hours were lost before one of the men found a small nail wedged in against the piston rod.

It was the following Monday that Johnson came back. Gorman always admitted that he made his biggest mistake when he allowed Johnson to rock down on our engine, and after a couple of days Gorman seemed to forget that he had ever left us.

Nevertheless, I did not feel exactly satisfied, and Nixon was openly suspicious of him. Whether he would have found a chance to harm us or not, if circumstances had not played into his hands, it is hard to say, but the week after he came back something happened which gave him a chance and he took advantage of it.

The "something" happened Saturday, and it was a pretty serious affair in a railroad camp. The cash with which to pay the men failed to arrive.
Usually the paymaster and another man went down to the Junction on the engine and brought it up as far as they could, and from there drove over to the camp with it in a buggy.
It was always in cash, for there were no banks to cash checks.

This time, however, the paymaster
came back without any money. No, he had not been held up. It seems that the Old Man had made arrange-

Man had notified the paymasters not to come back until the following Saturday, when there would be a double pay-day.

Our men grumbled a little, as was to be expected, but they seemed to take it good-naturedly enough, and it was not until the last of the week
that we noticed any unusual dissatisfaction.

At sundown, the men, instead of dispersing to their shanties as usual,
ranged themselves in line and stolidly awaited Gorman's coming. They were evidently in an ugly mood and would make no response to either Nixon's outbursts nor my questions; so,
finally, we likewise sat down and waited for Gorman to arrive.

He came up about dusk. "What's the trouble?" he asked looking at the men.

"The blankety-blank idiots want to see you about something," Nixon replied.

Gorman went over to the men, and one of them, who knew a little more English than the others, stepped out as spokesman. And then Gorman found out the whole trouble. They wanted their pay. "Meester Yohson"

(Johnson was a Norwegian and still spoke the language) said that the company was "busted" and would pay
no more wages. "Meester Yohson"
had told them that they were fools
to work when they would get nothing for it. They would work no more until they had their last week's wages.

The best that Gorman could get out of them was a compromise. If he would get the money and pay them
for their last week's work that night
they would go back to work the next morning. Otherwise they would quit for good.

At seven o'clock, Gorman and myself got into a single-seated buckboard and started down to the Junction after the money. "At the last moment," "Nerves," who went down on every possible occasion, asked to be allowed to go along, and Gorman
finally told him to crawl up behind,
which he did, snuggling himself down into the bottom of the lugger as best he could.

Nixon, with his hip-pocket bulging,
had gone to look for "Meester Yoh-
son."

We had two miles to drive before we reached the engine. The other twenty odd miles we traveled on the "dinky."

The money was ready for us at the Junction, and by ten we were in the buckboard again and on our way back to the camp. The swift ride on the "dinky" had cooled Gorman's anger
somewhat, and he was half-dozing
over an unlighted cigar and answering in monosyllables to "Nerves,"
who was talking over the back of the seat, when suddenly two horsemen

rode out from behind a boggy hole
shouted, "Hands up!"

It came so suddenly and the two men were so close that there was nothing to do but obey. My hands went up immediately. Gorman had told a moment and made a motion
toward his rifle lying across his lap,
but one of the men shoved a pistol in his face with a growl, and Gorman,
with a groan, also raised his hands.
"Nerves" had ducked into the bottom of the buckboard at the first command.

"and now that money you've got,"
one of the men said, still covering us,
while the other reached for the two rifles.

I was just putting my hand under the seat for the money and mentally kicking both Gorman and myself for not having foreseen some such attempt on the part of the Daledfield people, though it was still hard to believe that they would carry matters to such an extent, when from the side of the road came a second command.

"Drop that gun, Johnson." I did not recognize the voice, which was not at all surprising considering the amount of excitement that was crowded into the next few seconds.

The two men wheeled and sent two shots in the direction of the voice.

It was the needed diversion. Our mules sprang forward and I grabbed the lines, trying to keep them in the narrow path which served for a road,
while Gorman seized his rifle and sent a half dozen shots in the direction of the horsemen.

It was not until we were within a quarter of a mile of camp that I was able to bring the frightened mules to a standstill. Nixon and five or six Norwegians had already started out to meet us, and together we went back along the road.

There was no sign of the two horsemen, but at the side of the boulder, Nixon stumbled across a body. He struck a match and held it near the face.

"By the Eternal, if it isn't
'Nerves'!" he ejaculated.

"No," Gorman said slowly. "Just a plain case of nerve."

The "plucky" little "bigger" had slipped out of the back of the buck-
board unseen, stolen over to the side of the road, and unarmed, commanded two desperate men to throw up their hands.

For a wonder, he didn't die. We managed to get him back to camp before he bled to death, and a doctor from the Junction did the rest. By the night of the fifteenth, "Nerves"
was able to read two telegrams, which Gorman brought in for his inspection.

The first Gorman had sent, and it read:

"Have finished. Do I win?"
The other was from the girl, and "Nerves" face lighted up with a peculiar smile, as he read it.

"You win. Good-bless 'Nerves,'" it said.

"Nerves" is now forty years old,
and assistant general manager of one of the Western lines. He has never married, and I have often wondered—but no, I suppose not. That would save too much of romance for real-life.

ever, we needed every man we could get, and Johnson told an apparently straight story. He claimed that the Daledfield people had paid him what they promised one week and had then reduced him to the old scale.
Johnson didn't try any "monkey"
business in the way of tampering
with our machinery, or trying to roll

ments with the bank to forward to him, each Friday, to the Junction, sufficient money to pay off all his camps. There had been a mistake made somewhere, and the money had failed to reach the Old Man. Some of the camps were inconvenient to reach,

ON FURS NOW

PRE-INVENTORY SALE

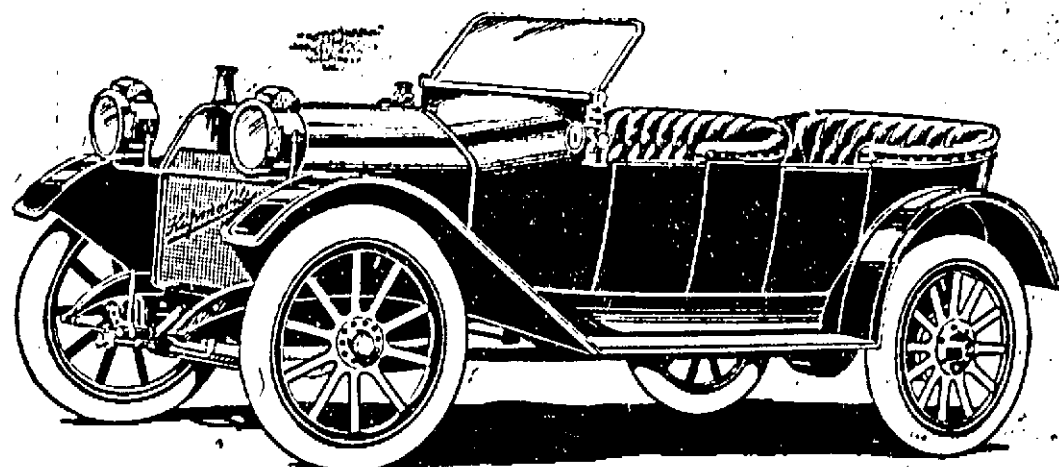

The warm weather of the first part of the season has left us with an unusually large stock of furs on hand, which we must dispose of at once.

Good furs always have a real value and are increasing in cost almost every year. They are the safest investment any one can make.

We carry the Revillon Freres Furs, the finest and best

During the Pre-Inventory Sale we offer all at dis-

Before the Hupmobile Runabout came there was nothing
in its class that even resembled it.
It brought new beauties and dignities to the runabout type.
And history is repeating itself in that splendid companion
to the runabout—the new Hupmobile Long-Stroke "32"

In the two separate fields of motor car manufacture the same unique result has been achieved.
The Hupmobile Long-Stroke "32" confers new honors upon the moderate priced touring car class.

It incorporates quality characteristics that have always been accepted as marks of identification in cars of price much higher than $3000.

It pays no attention to previous notions of what should constitute a $3000 car; but boldly establishes its own rule, and incorporates qualities unprecedented at that price.

It goes to greater lengths than ever before by introducing certain engineering features that, though fully tested abroad, have been found in America only on much costlier cars.

For example, the long stroke, is a REAL long stroke. Its ratio to the piston of 1 7/16 to 1 is a marvelous achievement because it is both more economical as to fuel and sixty per cent more efficient in pulling power.

Our Mr. Roy Dean will be in attendance at the Chicago Automobile Show from January 27th to February 3rd and will be pleased to meet any intending purchasers, and will explain in detail the many exclusive features of the Hupmobile.

LAST NIGHT.

PLEASE TEACHER, MAY I HAVE MY GUN, IT BELONGS TO MY MOTHER.

Good for Something.
Friend—Excuse me, dear, but I can't say I think much of your cook.
Hostess—No, I should have sent her away ages ago, but she's so good at fortune telling by cards.—Flegende Blatter.

The Homeward Way.
The curfew tells the knell of parting day.
The shopper holds a bundle on her knee.
She leaves her more beside her all the way.
And leaves a greeny-looking strap for me.

Master Malaprop.
"Pa, I know how to pronounce 'investigate'.
"Well, how?"
"Teacher told us it is pronounced with the accent on the antepeanut."

On the Job.
Jack—Have they got an up-to-date
football board up at your school?
Milly—You bet! They're already at work figuring out new rules for the year after next that will do away with the accidents that are certain to happen this year.—Puck.

Both Ways.
graphic mania."
"Good gracious, what might that be?"
"He gives a photographer a standing order for his sitting."

Crafty.
Foolie—Doo Wozlo wants to sell
his auto.
Fitz—What's the reason?
Foolie—He figures that the one that buys it will be a steady patient over after.—Pothander.

Another Kind.
"While, your uncle has just given
you another pledge of his affection.
Why don't you return it?"
"Return it? My dear, I am always giving my uncle pledges."

Permanent.
There are some things
we can't forget.
The coat of living
is with us yet.

A Wise Girl.
He—I'm not rich, darling, but if tender and oversteering love goes for anything—
She—It goes with me all right, but I'm afraid it won't go with the grocer.

Philosophic.
He paid his way.
Wherever he went
Now a broke, but say,
He's well content.

Logical Profession.
"Why is it these actors always make money?"
"Because if there wasn't money in it there wouldn't be any profits."

Disproved.
She said, "I never take up a tad."
But he retorted,
I saw her out this morn, egad,
In freakish dress.

The Point of View.
"Isn't this wireless business great?"
"I don't suppose it looks that way to wire-walkers."

Throwing Stones.
"I think that partner you just danced with is the ugliest man I've ever seen."
"Hush, dear, you forget yourself."

FORTY YEARS AGO.

Janesville, Gazette, Jan. 6.—A Madrid letter says that the tone of the Spanish press is very belligerent in respect to the attitude of the United States on the Cuban question.
There were one hundred cases of measles in the New York Italian Catholic orphan asylum at one time within a few days.
The Whitewater Register is to be changed from a quarto to a folio,
and both sides printed at home.
The Spanish war fever is rapidly dying away. General Sikes says that the Spanish navy could destroy the entire available navy of this country in two weeks.
In Milwaukee there were 158 cases of small pox during the month of December and 67 deaths.
The public schools will be resumed
on Monday next.
Slighting in the city was injured
by yesterday's sunshine.
In consequence of sickness, Mrs.

Hunt's school will not commence until Wednesday, Jan. 10th.
The Milwaukee Sentinel sends out
a handsome printed carrier's address this year, in gold, blue and red,
on a third ground. The poetry is from the pen of Colonel C. W. Mc-Henry, of this city.
The subject of a free library has been agitated to some extent among those who are interested in the library welfare of the city. It certainly will be of incalculable benefit to the community, and there are really no great obstacles in the way of the accomplishment of an undertaking which would bring so much good to all classes. The Young Men's Association has some two thousand dollars worth of books which would form an excellent basis upon which to build an extensive free circulating library, supported at the expense of the city. We throw out these suggestions in the belief that they are worthy of consideration.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES

THE LAWYER.

By Howard L. Hann.

The lawyer is a pillar of society who makes a juicy living by selling his vocal chords to the highest bidder for cash. When a lawyer's voice falls him, all is lost save honor. The lawyer who can express an unbiased opinion of the defendant in a six-hour argument filled with deep thought and benediction English without interference of the English and hardening of the arteries into the jury box,
will never have to have his income pushed into place by the some rude specialist with an obtrusive forefinger and an acetylene search light. One of the lawyer's most pleasing duties is to suffer in a little loose talk for somebody who has thoughtfully deposited a corpus.

lost retainer in his collection box.
Owing to the increase in litigation,
the legal profession is loaded up at the present writing with lawyers who can't tell a writ of habeas corpus from a marriage certificate, and this has caused the state to require an examination based on lung expansion and freedom from throat trouble.
Every lawyer has a very sensitive conscience, which will not permit
him to take a case when there is nothing in it. Some lawyers win cases with a tendril flow of legal verbiage, while others pack the jury with near and dear relatives. The latter process is considered sounder in practice. The lawyer is said to be in contempt of court when he refers to the judge as a mild crook who ought to be forerun of a corker factory.
The slyster is a new lawyer who comes to town and beats the old heads to a melancholy frazzle. The legal profession is very loyal to its members, and no one ever heard of a lawyer being dishonored by anything except an unexpected demise.

Hopeloss Case.
"Do trouble with me and my wife,"
admitted old Brother Gaump, "am dud, while we 'gree most of de time,
we don't 'gree at de same time. I kin
'gree 'bout anything, and she kin 'gree
'bout anything, but we kin't 'gree wid
each other 'bout it. When I'm willin' to 'gree wid her she won't 'gree wid
me, and when she is ready to 'gree wid
me, I've changed my mind and kin't
'gree wid her. We kin bote 'gree separate, but we kin't 'gree together on de same thing at de same time, and de we tries do, wuss we gits."

BY WALT MASON.

I hurried up my old bay plug,
and said: "Ho beat a motor car;
you do not beat him on 'chug-chug-chug' or scatter noise near and far,
I have no use for a machine, no that's louder than a thunderstorm, and uses up raw gasoline, which is but death in fluid form. My horse will gently haul his load and bring me safely to my home; I have no fear that he'll explode and with his fragments straw
the dome. He'll calmly hear his little yoke and spring a gentle horae's smile, and not produce a lot of smoke that you can smell for half a mile. My good old Dobbin I can trust, he'll take the road till he'll explode, and not an engine will be hurt, or come home with a ruined tire." I climbed into my ancient shay (to take a drive to other scenes, old Dobbin bucked and wheeled away and kicked the rig to switherons.

Stamps of Glue.
In place of rubber stamps a German manufacturer makes stamps of glue.
On the setup type a few sheets of tinfoil are laid, and with the aid of a felt a single deep impression is made by means of a press. The tin foil matrix is then taken from the mold and lightly oiled. About the matrix oiled lead is arranged, and rollers' glue, to which a little printer's roller mass has been added, is then poured in. After cooling, this can readily be detached.
For the first few days after casting
the stamp remains somewhat soft,
but subsequently hardens, without losing the elasticity required for a stamp.
The stamps made by this quick and cheap process must, of course, be mounted on wooden handles.

Population of China.
According to the very latest figures,
the population of the entire Chinese empire is 320,542,000, of which number China proper has about 204,003,000.
Peking is given a population of 1,017, 209, while with the metropolitan district outside the old city proper the outside is 4,654,310. It was found that the number of families in the whole empire was 59,824,918, the number of individuals in each family being about 5.5. The area of China proper is about 1,335,000 square miles, and the average number of people per square mile is 198.

Daily Thought.
Nothing in the world is so hard to counter as a suspicion that cannot in the nature of things be disproved or brought to the test of fact, that relate less to the present than to some indefinite future, and that tend through infinite repetition and by their very elapseness to acquire a certain credibility.—Sydney Brooks.

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COM- POUND "CURES IN EVERY CASE."

Mr. Jas. McCaffery, Mgr. of the Schultz Hotel, Omaha, Neb., recommends Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, because it cures "in every case." "I have used it myself and I have recommended it to many others who have since told me of its great curative power in diseases of the throat and lungs." Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is a reliable family medicine. Give it to your children, and take it yourself when you feel a cold coming on. It cures and cures coughs, colds and croup and prevents bronchitis and pneumonia. Refuse substitutes. Badger Drug Co.

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—Yes, Father fell off the wagon, but can you blame him?

Stoles.
The founder of the Stole School of Philosophy was Zeno, a native of Citium, in the island of Cyprus, born about 350 B. C. Stoleism was in many ways the noblest of all the philosophical systems of antiquity. Its most illustrious follower was the great and good Marcus Aurelius, whose "Meditations" have been the delight of the thoughtful for 1,800 years. The best book on the history and teachings of this renowned school is Zeller's "Stoics, Epicureans and Skeptics." Zeller leaves scarcely anything unsaid on the subject.

Presence of Mind.
Watching her house burn down, the woman suddenly thought that she had written out a check and left it lying on her desk. Fortunately she could remember the number of it—281. With rare presence of mind she at once called up the bank. "Please stop payment on check numbered 281!" she directed, with the crisp brevity characteristic of those balanced souls who know exactly what they want.—Puck.

JUST IN TIME

Some Janesville People May Wait Till It's Too Late.
Don't wait until too late. Be sure to be in time. Just in time with kidney pills. Means curing the back. Before backache becomes chronic. Before serious urinary troubles set in. No better remedy than Doan's Kidney Pills. Here is Janesville testimony.

Frank C. Summels, 889 MeKey Ave., Janesville, Wis., says: "I know that Doan's Kidney Pills are a good kidney medicine, having used them with the best results. My kidneys did not do their work as they should and caused my back to ache. I also had pain across my joints. The use of two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills and a few months ago relieved me, and since then I have had no further trouble from kidney complaint." For sale by all dealers. Price 25 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

FRECKLES

COPYRIGHT, 1904, BY DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & CO.

It could not be, for he knew that the Bird Woman and the angel's father must know that he was not really McLean's son, and it did not matter to them in the least. In spite of accident and poverty, they evidently expected him to do something worth while in the world. That must be his remedy. He must go to work on his education. He must get away. He must find out the great thing of which the angel talked. For the first time his thoughts turned anxiously toward the city and the beginning of his studies. McLean and the Duncan spoke of him as "the boy," but he was a man. He must face life bravely and act a man's part. The angel was a more child. He must not allow her to torture him past bearing with her frank comradeship that meant to him high heaven, earth's richness and all that lay between and just nothing to her.

There was an ominous growl of thunder, and Freckles snatched up his wheel and raced for the swamp. He was worried to find his boots lying in the cabin door. The children playing on the wood pile told him that mother said they were so heavy she couldn't walk in them and she had come back and taken them off. Thoroughly frightened, he stopped only long enough to slip them on himself and then sped with all his strength for the timberlost. To the west the long, black, hard beaten trail lay clear, but far up the east side, straight across the path, he could see what was certainly a bump-brown figure. Face down, Sarah Duncan lay across the trail. When Freckles turned her over his blood chilled at the look of horror frozen on her face. There was a low humming, and something about Freckles shivered in terror, for there was a swarm of wild bees settled on a scrub thorn only a few yards away. The air was thick with excited, unsettled bees making ready to lead further in search of a suitable location. Then he thought he understood, and with a prayer of thankfulness in his heart that she had escaped even so narrowly he caught her up and hurried down the trail until they were well out of danger.

CHAPTER XII.

WITH HIS SWARM ANGEL.
SARAH DUNCAN had not followed the trail many rods when her trouble began. She was not Freckles, and not a bird of the line was going to be fooled into thinking she was. They kept whizzing from their nests and darting from all sorts of unexpected places about her head and feet with quick whirs that kept her starting and jumping. Before Freckles was half-way to the town poor Mrs. Duncan was hysterical and the timberlost had neither sung nor performed for her. "I wouldn't stay in this place for a million a month," she had said, and the sound of her voice brought no comfort, for it was so little like she had thought it that she glanced hastily about to see if it had really been she that spoke.

Her chin was quivering like a terrified child's. Almost into her face went a night hawk stretched along a limb for its daytime nap. Mrs. Duncan sprang down the trail, lighting on a frog. The croak it gave as she crushed it sickened her. She screamed wildly and jumped to one side. That carried her into the swale, where the grasses reached almost to her waist, and her horror of snakes returning she made a flying leap for an old log lying along the line. She lit on it squarely, but it was so damp and rotten that she sank straight through it to her knees. She caught at the wire as she went down and, missing, raked her wrist over a barb until she had it open in a bleeding gash. Her fingers closed convulsively around the second strand.

now. Her tongue stiffened. She clung frantically to the sagging wire and finally managed to grasp it with the other hand. Then she could reach the top wire, and so she drew herself up and found solid footing. She poked up the club that she had dropped in order to extricate herself. Leaning heavily on it, she got back to the trail.

The wind rose higher, the changes from light to darkness were more abrupt, and the thunder came nearer and louder. In swarms the blackbirds rose from the swale and came flocking to the interior with a clamorous cry. "Cheek, cheek," Grackles murmured to their tribal call. "Tra-la-hee, tra-la-hee." Red winged blackbirds swept low, calling to belated mates. "Follow-me, follow-me." Huge jolly crows gathered about her, crying, as if warning her to flee before it was over. The nearby pool for Freckles' "mind" frog, fell into trouble with a muskrat and let out a rasping note. Mrs. Duncan was too shaken to run far.

Several bees struck her and were angrily buzzing about before she noticed them. Then the humming swelled to a roar on all sides. A great, convulsive sob shook her, and she ran into the bushes, now into the swale, anywhere to avoid the swarming bees, ducking, dodging, fighting for her very life. Presently the humming seemed to grow a little fainter. She found the trail again and ran with all her might from a few of her angry pursuers.

And as she ran, stretching every muscle, she suddenly became aware that crowding the trail before her was a great, round, black body with brown markings on its back, like painted geometrical patterns. She tried to stop, but the louder buzzing behind warned her she dared not. Gathering her skirts still higher, with hair flying about her face and her eyes almost bursting from their sockets, she ran straight toward it. The sound of her feet and the humming of the bees alarmed the ratlier, and it stopped squarely across the trail, lifting its head above the grasses of the swale and rattling inquiringly—rattled until the bees were outdone.

Straight at it went the pale stricken woman, running wildly and uncontrollably. She took one great leap, clearing its body on the path, and then flew on with winged feet. The snake, coiled to strike, missed Mrs. Duncan and landed among the bees instead. They settled over and about it, and realizing that it had found trouble, it sank

among the grasses and went thrashing toward the deep willow fringed low ground where its den was until the swale looked as if a mighty reaper were cutting a wide swath. The mass of enraged bees darted angrily about, searching for it, and, colliding with the scrub thorn, began a temporary settling there to discover whether it was a suitable place. Mrs. Duncan staggered on a few steps farther, fell face down on the path, where Freckles found her, and lay still.

Freckles worked with her until she drew a long, quivering breath and opened her eyes. When she saw him bending over her she closed them tightly and, gripping him, struggled to her feet. He helped her up, and, with his arm about and half carrying her, they made their way to the clearing. Then, BRAVLY

Sarahwoman thought she was, she kept over again. The children added their wailing to Freckles' panic.

This time he was so near the cabin that he could carry her into the house and lay her on the bed. He sent the oldest boy scudding down the corduroy for the nearest neighbor, and between them they undressed her and discovered that she was not bitten. They bathed and bound up the bleeding wrist and coaxed her back to consciousness. She lay sobbing and shuddering. The first intelligent word she said was, "Freckles, look at that jar on the kitchen table and see if my yeast is no running over."

Several days went by before she could give Duncan and Freckles any detailed account of what had happened to her. She could not rest until she sent for McLean and begged him to save Freckles from further risk about that place of horrors. The boss went down to the swamp with his mind fully made up to do so.

Freckles laughed. "Why, Mr. McLean, don't you let a woman's nervous system set you worrying over me," he said. "I'm not denying how she felt, but that's all over and gone. It's the height of me glory to fight it out with the old swamp and all that's in it or will be coming to it and then to turn it over to you, as I promised you and myself I'd do, sir. You couldn't break the heart of me entire quicker than to be taking it from me now when I'm just on the home stretch. You mustn't let a woman get mixed up with business, for I've always heard about how it's bringing trouble."

The Bird Woman and the angel arrived on time for the third of the series and found McLean on the line talking to Freckles. The boss was filled with enthusiasm over a marvellous article of the Bird Woman's that he had just read. He begged to be allowed to accompany her into the swamp and watch the method by which she secured an illustration in such a location.

The Bird Woman explained to him that it was an easy matter with the subject she then had in hand, and as Little Chicken was too small to be frightened by him and large enough to be getting troublesome, she was glad of his company. They went to the chicken log together, leaving to the happy Freckles the care of the angel, who had brought her band and a roll of songs. The Bird Woman told them that they might go to Freckles' room and practice until she finished with Little Chicken, and then she and McLean would come to the concert.

It was almost three hours before they finished and came down the west trail. As they reached the bushes at the entrance the voice of the angel stopped them, for it was commanding and filled with much impatience. "Freckles James Ross McLean," she was saying, "you all me with dark blue despair! You're singing as if your voice was glass and liable to break at any minute. Why don't you sing as you did a week ago? You are a fraud! You led me to think that there was the making of a great singer in you, and now you are singing—do you know how badly you are singing?"

"Yes," said Freckles meekly. "I'm thinking I'm too happy to be singing well today. The music don't come right only when I'm lonesome and sad. The world's for being all sunshine and print, for among you and Mr. McLean and the Bird Woman I'm after being that happy that I can't keep my thoughts on no notes. It's more than sorry I am to be disappointing you. Play it over, and I'll be beginning again, and this time I'll hold hard."

"Well," said the angel, "it seems to me that if I had all the things to be proud of that you have I'd lift up my head and sing!" "And what is it I'm to be proud of, m'ann?" politely inquired Freckles. "Why, a whole worldful of things," cried the angel explosively. "For one thing, you can be good and proud over the way you've kept the timber thieves out of this lease and the trust your father has in you. You can be proud over the way every one speaks of you. I heard a man say a few days ago that the timberlost was full of disagreeable things—positive dangers, unhealthy as it could be, and that since the memory of the first settlers it has been a rendezvous for runaways, thieves and murderers. This swamp is named for a man that got here and wandered around 'till he starved. That man I was talking with said he wouldn't take your job for $1,000 a month—in fact, he said he wouldn't have it for any money, and you've never missed a day or lost a tree. Proud! Why, I should think you would just parade around about proper over that!

"And you can always be proud that you are born an Irishman. My father is Irish, and if you want to see him just get up and strut give him a teeny opening to enlarge on his race. He says that if the Irish had decent territory they'd lead the world. He says they've always been handicapped by lack of space and of fertile soil. He says if Ireland had been as big and fertile as Indiana, why, England wouldn't ever have had the upper hand. She'd just be a little appendage. Fancy England an appendage! He says Ireland has the finest orators and the keenest statesmen in Europe today, and when England wants to fight with whom does she fill her trenches? Irishmen, of course! Ireland has the greenest grass and trees, the finest stones and lakes, and they're jaunty and care. I don't know just exactly what they are, but Ireland has all those are anyway. They're a lot of great actors and a few singers, and there never was a sweeter poet than one of theirs. You should hear my father recite 'Our Hymn of My Country.' He does it like a song."

The angel rose, made an elaborate old time bow and, holding up the banjo, recited in clipping feet and meter, with rhythmic swing and a touch of brogue:

"Dear harp of my country" (the angel ardently clasped the banjo). "In darkness I found thee" (she held it up to the light); "The cold chain of silence had hung o'er thee long" (she muted the strings with her right palm); "Then proudly, my own Irish harp, I unbound thee" (she threw up her head and swept a ringing harmony). "And gave all thy chords to light, freedom and song" (she crashed into the notes of the accompaniment she had been playing for Freckles).

"That's what you want to be thinking of!" she cried. "Not darkness and lonesomeness and sadness, but 'light, freedom and song.' I can't begin to think off hand of all the big, splendid things an Irishman has to be proud of, but whatever they are, they are all

"IN DARKNESS I FOUND THEE!"
yours and you are a part of them. I just despise that 'saddest when I sing' business. You can sing! Now you go over there and do it! I'm going to come down the aisle playing that accompaniment, and when I stop in front of you you sing!"

THE DANGER OF LA GRIPPE
In its fatal tendency to pneumonia. To cure your la grippe coughs take Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. R. B. Fisher, Washington, Kans., says: "I was troubled with a severe attack of la grippe and nothing I used did me any good and I was threatened with pneumonia. A friend advised me to use Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and I got some at once. I was relieved from the very first. By the time I had taken three bottles my la grippe was gone. I feel that Foley's Honey and Tar Compound to be the best medicine I ever used and always keep a bottle with me." Badger Drug Co., Madison, Wis.

MRS. ETHEL CROKER

SUES EX-TAMMANY BOSS OVER DAUGHTER.

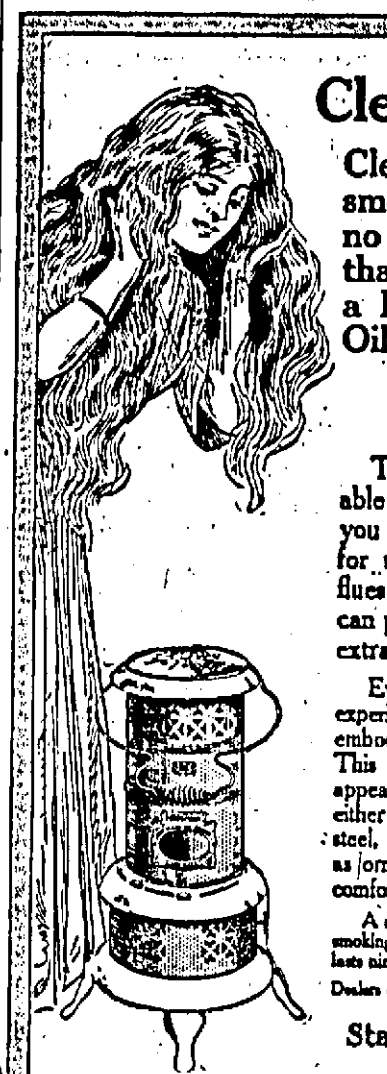

New York City.—The dashing young riding school groom, John J. Brown, who married the daughter of Tammany's ex-boss, Richard Croker, has brought suit against Mr. Croker and his sons for $100,000 damages on the ground that they have alienated from him the affections of his wife. This is the latest portrait of Mrs. Ethel Croker-Brown, daughter of Richard Croker.

Their Likeness.
While Pat worked, Mike and Murphy painted a picture of a donkey's head on the back of his coat, thinking that they would have some fun out of him when he put on his coat to go home. Pat, as he reached for his coat, saw the painting and asked: "Which one of you fellows wiped your face on the back of my coat?"

Piano Cover That's Useful.
A dust cover for an upright piano is made of denim and tacked to the back of the piano. The cover should be wide enough to cover the piano and thrown over when sweeping; when not in use the cover may hang down behind the piano.

Clean, Dry Heat
Clean, dry heat, with no smoke or odor and with no flying ashes or soot—that is what you get with a Perfection Smokeless Oil Heater.
PERFECTION
The Perfection is the most reliable and convenient heating device you can find. It is always ready for use. There are no pipes or flues or wires to bother you. You can pick it up and take it wherever extra warmth is wanted.
Every mechanical improvement that experience could suggest was already embodied in the Perfection Heater. This year we have tried to add to its appearance. The drums are finished either in turquoise-blue enamel or plain steel, as you prefer; nickel trimmings; as ornamental as it is indispensable to comfort.
A special automatic device absolutely prevents smoking. All parts easily cleaned. Closes fast; lasts one hour. Cool handles; clamps top.

COMPLIMENTARY TO THE JAPANESE

Possess Traits That Are a Worthy Example.

Pastor Russell Compliments Japs For Gentleness and Kind Demeanor, and Wishes He Could Do the Same For Christendom—Discourse on the Importance of the Will and a Proper Choice at the Beginning of the Year.

C. A. He had large audience and keenest attention. His text was from Joshua xiv, 15, "Choose ye this day whom ye will serve." He said:

In our day the human will, although still ambitious and enterprising, has taken a higher plane for its exercise than in the days of Alexander the Great and Napoleon. It is rather employed in the conquering of mountains and valleys, in the casting up of highways and piercing of tunnels; in the erection of bridges and the masterpieces of mechanical engineering which traverse the land and the sea with almost incredible speed.

The Will's Greatest Achievement. But, said the Pastor, the most wonderful achievement of the will is seen in self-control. The Scriptures say truly, "Greater is he that ruleth his own will than he that captures a city."

(Proverbs xvi, 32.) The most wonderful illustrations of the will thus exercised he believes are to be found in the case of Jesus and His footstep followers. By the exercise of His will Jesus surrendered His glorious condition for the human estate and then delivered up Himself, as the Man Christ Jesus, to the doing of the Divine will, even unto death, that thus "by the grace of God He might taste death for every man." (Hebrews ii, 9.) The motive behind that strong will was not selfishness, but love.

Compliments the Japanese. When I note the gentleness and kindness and courtesy of Japanese life in general, I am astonished and wonder little that the ordinary Christian message has not appealed more to your hearts and displaced Shinto worship, for which I understand you have two hundred thousand figures, temples, sympathetically putting myself in the place of the Japanese, I fancy you saying, "Shall we exchange our simple, esthetic gentleness and kindness of spirit for the rudeness and sometimes swagger of the soldiers and sailors, and the domineering headiness of the upper classes who come to us?"

Sympathetically, again I hear you say, "The missionaries who have expounded Christianity to us for years have told us that our parents and ancestors whom we reverently worship are despised by your Christian God, and are damned to an eternity of torture because they did not know Jesus and become His followers. They tell us, additionally, that we also are bound for that place of eternal horror and torture unless we repudiate the religion of our birth which has made us so happy and contented. Can you wonder that we resent such teaching; that we merely tolerate it to avoid war; that we prefer Buddhism and Shintoism, and that our Shinto temples increase the more rapidly because of antagonism to Christianity?"

Heathen Ancestry Not Resenting. Alas, my dear hearers, Christianity, with very precious truths at its foundation, seriously lost its way long centuries ago and wandered far from the inspired teachings of the Bible. This is the explanation of the numerous sects and parties of Christendom and the different doctrines, none of which I am here to defend—either from the standpoint of reason or of the Bible.

The Bible does not touch, as once you supposed, that eternal torment is the penalty for our first parents' disobedience in the eating of the forbidden fruit. On the contrary, it teaches that "the wages of sin is death," and that this death wage has been the experience of our entire race for now six thousand years. It teaches that in God's due time this curse or sentence of death will be lifted and that sorrow and sighing shall flee away.

It teaches that the whole earth shall become a Paradise restored—world-wide, and that those who, when fully informed, shall prefer sin, will be utterly, completely and overwhelmingly destroyed, in the "Second Death."

So then, my friends, if from Shintoism you have learned to be esthetic in your tastes, kind and gentle in your manner and loyal—these lessons learned will be to you a great advantage in that future time of blessing under Messiah's Kingdom. On the other hand, whoever has cultivated a contrary spirit will be correspondingly deprived and will correspondingly have the more and severer lessons to learn. Take heart then today from the assurance of the good time coming, and that every grace of character that has been acquired by you, either through Shintoism or otherwise, is not lost, but should be maintained.

Much in the Minority. Many men ask more than they are entitled to, but the number getting it isn't large.—Atchison Globe.

WORLD MOURNS DEAD.
Kipling's Poem of Tribute to the late Robley D. Evans.

Zogbaum draws with a pencil,
And I do things with a pen,
But you sit up in a conning tower
Blossing eight hundred men.

Zogbaum takes care of his business,
And I take care of mine;
But you take care of ten thousand tons
Sky-boosting through the brine.

Zogbaum can handle his shadows,
And I can handle my style;
But you can handle a ten-inch gun
To carry seven mile.

To him that hath shall be given,
And that's why these verses are sent
To the man who has lived more stories
Than Zogbaum or I could invent.
